Ike Says Space Age Arms To Boost Cost Of Defense

Ex-Professor Called Before Racket Probe

Modica, Once NYU Faculty Member, Has Tutored Thugs' Sons

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Don (The Professor) Modica, who witnesses say, tutors gangsters' sons in mathematics and the social sciences, was called today to testify about New York's garbage disposal rackets.

The special Senate committee investigating rackets announced it wants to quiz him about his associations with Albert Anastasia, the recently slain executive for Murder, Inc., and with Vincent J. (Jimmy) Squillante, alleged Mafia mobster, described as Anastasia's godson.

Name Anastasia's Son Witnesses have named Anastasia's son Umberto as one of Modica's pupils.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Modica and Squillante's brother Nunzio will be important witnesses about racketeering and gunplay in the 50 million dollar a year business of hauling garbage from business places and homes in the New York area.

Vincent Squillante is scheduled to testify tomorrow.

Soviet Says Ike Asks Arms Hike

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today President Eisenhower called for a stepped-up American armaments program in his Oklahoma City speech.

The broadcast gave the Russian people the gist of Eisenhower's talk last night. It said the President conceded that the Soviet Union "now has many more scientists and engineers than the U.S.A., and trains them at a faster pace."

4,000 Turned Away From Ike Speech; Some Protest

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—About 4,000 were turned away from Municipal Auditorium as President Eisenhower spoke last night and some were loudly unhappy about it.

A local public relations firm hired to handle arrangements announced seating would be on a first-come, first-served basis outside of a few hundred places reserved for the working press.

Nonessential Items To Be Cut Sharply

Americans Will Not Sacrifice Security For Balanced Budget

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—President Eisenhower last night warned the cost of space age weapons means a "very considerable" boost in defense spending is coming and that Congress will have to face the tough task of cutting nonessential national programs.

He said Americans won't tolerate sacrificing security to the worship of a balanced budget.

This impending boost will mean sharp cuts in some nonmilitary spending programs in next year's budget to offset a part of the hike, he said.

Some May Be Eliminated Some of these programs may have to be eliminated entirely, the President declared. He departed from his prepared text to add: "And pressure groups will wail in anguish."

In a nationwide television-radio address, the President also called for a stepped-up educational program of training scientists to meet the Russian threat. He suggested the program include such incentives as fellowship grants to provide more science teachers. But he did not go into detail on his suggestion.

He also called for greater concentration on basic research, saying "the warning lies in the fast rate of increase of the Soviet effort" in that field of science.

Making the second of a series of "chins up" talks designed to bolster United States confidence in free world defense capabilities, Eisenhower said Russia's challenge is being met and will continue to be met.

Danger Ahead He cautioned that the Soviet Union's recent achievements in development of weapons of the future mean "there is danger ahead for free men everywhere."

The President, addressing an overflow audience in the 6,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, recalled that Nazi dictator Hitler once boasted he would bury the free world.

"Not enough people took him at his word," Eisenhower said in likening the situation then to the Russian threat today.

"We shall not make that mistake again," he declared.

Marine Guilty Of Brutality

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—One U. S. Marine was convicted and another acquitted today as the Navy began trials of 16 Leathernecks accused of brutality to bring prisoners at Sasebo naval base.

Cpl. Glenn W. Fredericks, 21, Fleetmate, Alaska, was sentenced to 14 days at hard labor and reduced to private rank for punching a sailor while Fredericks was on guard duty in the Navy brig at the south Japan Navy base.

The conviction and sentence are subject to review.

A similar charge against Cpl. Dayton W. Dierksen, 21, St. Lawrence, S. D., was dropped when the complainant, fireman Carlos E. Vota, 18, Amarillo, Tex., told the court he could not remember being hit by the Marine. Dierksen is due for discharge from the Marines Friday.

New Model Jet Global Bomber In SAC Service

SEATTLE (AP)—The Boeing Airplane Co. and the Air Force announced jointly today the B52E, a new model of the eight-jet global bomber, has gone into service with the Strategic Air Command.

The improved model is the fifth since Boeing began production of the 200-ton B52s. Major advances in the B52E are increased navigational accuracy, more reliable electronics systems, greater crew comfort and relocation of some equipment.

External appearance, speed, range and altitude remain unchanged from earlier models. The B52s can fly more than 6,000 miles without refueling at speeds up to 630 miles an hour and altitudes of more than 50,000 feet.

The new model will be manufactured at both the company's Seattle and Wichita, Kan., plants.

U. S. Nearing Test Of First Space Moon

Sputnik II To Stay Up More Than Year, Scientists Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. scientists say that Russia's second satellite may continue circling the earth for a year or more.

Some earlier thought among scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory was that the half-ton Sputnik II might plunge earthward earlier than Sputnik I. There have been predictions the first satellite, a small sphere, will fall out of orbit Dec. 11.

The scientists said Sputnik II is apparently slowing down more gradually than they previously believed.

Close To Launching

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the U. S. space satellite program, Project Vanguard, said American scientists are "now pretty close" to asking that the launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., be cleared for firing the first U. S. satellite test sphere.

Announced American plans call for launching small test spheres next month and firing the first fully developed satellite in March.

A spokesman for the Grand Central Rocket Co., Mentone, Calif., said his firm was notified by the Navy Tuesday night that the first U. S. test satellite, a sphere 6.4 inches in diameter, would go aloft Dec. 1.

No Date Set

In Washington, the Navy said no exact date has been set, although it said it still plans firings next month.

The first Soviet satellite was launched Oct. 4. The second one was sent up Nov. 3 with a small dog aboard. Radio equipment on both satellites now is dead and the dog, Laika, is believed to have died inside Sputnik II.

Moscow radio said last night that Russian scientists are sure Laika "was quite well and comfortable to the end." One Russian who took part in the dog's pre-flight training said there was no intention of returning Laika to earth.

Ike, Council Eye Military Cost Boosts

Security Council Given Review On Proposed Slashes

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower conferred with the National Security Council today on plans for a sharp step-up in military spending to meet the Soviet missile threat.

The discussion took place against a background of favorable reaction to Mr. Eisenhower's Oklahoma City speech last night, in which he proposed a "very considerable increase" in defense funds.

The chief executive also reviewed with the Security Council the "non-essential" government programs which he said must be eliminated to help pay for adequate space-age weapons.

Wetzel Tops Cop Slayer's Suspect List

FBI Opens Search For Escaped Mental Patient In Killings

WASHINGTON (INS)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced today that a nationwide search is under way for Frank Edward Wetzel, 36, for questioning in connection with the murder of two North Carolina highway patrolmen.

The FBI identified latent fingerprints found on articles in the stolen murder car as those of Wetzel, who escaped last month from a New York State mental hospital.

West Seeks Compromise Disarm Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Japan and Canada today laid before the General Assembly a highly controversial list of 10 new nations which the Western powers are backing for membership in an enlarged U. N. Disarmament Commission.

The U. N. Assembly turned to the thorny disarmament issue today as the West sought to bring Russia back into negotiations by agreeing to add 10 nations to the Disarmament Commission.

Western delegates hoped to introduce a compromise proposal after the Assembly vote on a 24-nation resolution calling for new disarmament negotiations based on the latest Western proposals.

The resolution, which cleared the 82-nation Political Committee 57-9 last week, was certain of Assembly approval.

The compromise plan appeared headed for trouble, however. A Soviet spokesman told a reporter his delegation did not agree with the political makeup of the proposed additions. They reportedly include only one Soviet bloc member—either Poland or Czechoslovakia—and would have pro-Western Tunisia represent the Middle East.

Some Of Old Antarctic Group May Get Home

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—The Navy's "old explorers," veterans of the long dark winter in the antarctic, were told today some but not all of them might get out by Christmas.

Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Navy commander in the antarctic, told an assembly of the men due for rotation they could leave any time their one-year assignments are up and their jobs completed, if weather and ice conditions permit planes and ships to take them out.

Heald Says U. S. Can Not Decree Study Of Science

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—The federal government "cannot decree the study of science," Henry T. Heald, president of the Ford Foundation, said today.

"Perhaps it should not bribe people to do so," he said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Council of Chief State School Officers.

"Scientists cannot be made over night with any amount of money," he said. "They must be produced by the American school system. Curriculum decisions are made at the local level."

A greater recognition of the importance of mathematics and science in the high schools will result in revision of requirements and procedures. This can be influenced by state superintendents."

Heald said there are only a limited number of people in America equipped to be creative scientists. "We need to identify them and give them a chance to develop," he said.

Truman Sees Boost In Tax During Crisis

Former President Says Only Way To Meet Russ Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman predicted that an income tax increase will be necessary to meet the crisis brought about by Soviet technological advances.

"You have a situation to meet and there is only one way to do it," said Truman. "There has to be a tax increase."

He said he had not heard or read President Eisenhower's speech at Oklahoma City last night in which the President said defense spending for space age weapons must be boosted by a very considerable amount.

As Truman took his customary early morning walk during a visit here, reporters apprised him of the President's views and asked Truman if he thought such increased spending would mean an income tax hike.

Charles Has 9th Birthday

LONDON (AP)—The future king of England got up in a windy dormitory at 7:15 on his 9th birthday today and went to school like any other boy.

His mother and father, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, told the headmaster at Cheam School that no exception should be made of their son.

It was Charles' first birthday away from the royal splendor of palaces and carpeted castles. He spent it at the boarding school 30 miles south of London where he was enrolled this fall.

Ike, Mamie Plan Georgia Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower hope to go to Augusta, Ga., tomorrow for a vacation lasting until about the middle of next week.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, announcing this today, said the vacation plans were still tentative but advised reporters to bring their suitcases when they come to the White House tomorrow.

Gaping Hole After Sewer Break Threatens Homes

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—A gaping hole in a North End boulevard widened rapidly for a time early today and police ordered 60 persons to be ready to evacuate their homes at a moment's notice.

The huge hole, caused by a sewer break Monday, was more than 60 feet deep. Its edge crumbled away at the rate of about a foot a minute for a brief period prior to 1 a.m. so that the hole's top measured approximately 200 feet by 100 feet.

When the rapid crumbling ceased, the lip of the huge crater was only nine feet away from the foundation of the nearest home, or 145 feet below the surface.

HST Escapes Bump By Car

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman, a traffic-conscious pedestrian, almost was hit by an automobile while crossing 84th St. and Park Ave. today.

As he crossed with the green light, the traffic signal changed. A car, which had stopped for the light, rolled slowly toward him, coming to within two or three inches of Truman.

Accompanying reporters yelled at the driver. "I didn't notice it," Truman said. "I was busy talking to you fellows."

Soviet Claims FBI Invented Abel Charges

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet newspaper Literary Gazette charged today that the FBI case against Russian Col. Rudolf I. Abel was "pure invention" and "typical police provocation."

Abel was convicted by a Brooklyn federal court Oct. 25 of stealing American military and atomic secrets for Russia and is now awaiting sentencing. The maximum sentence is death.

The Literary Gazette article was the first mention of Abel in the Soviet press since he was arrested and charged last June. The paper also mentioned for the first time Boris Morros, a Hollywood movie producer whose 12-year activity as a U. S. counterespionage agent against Russia was made public last August.

Morros was called "a provocateur who started his shameless career as a hoodlucker in the court of Nicholas II and as a friend of Rasputin and ended up in the American secret service."

Morros, a naturalized American citizen, was a child when Nicholas was czar and the monk Rasputin was a power behind the court scenes. The Communists executed Nicholas.

Fourth Of Populace Hit Upper Respiratory Ills Put 38 Million To Bed

CLEVELAND (AP)—At least one-fourth of the nation's people have had to spend a day or more in bed since mid-summer because of severe colds, sore throat, influenza or similar upper respiratory ills, a report by a U. S. Public Health Service official showed today. There were 38 million so affected from mid-July to October.

Dr. William Stewart, assistant to the surgeon general of USPHS, summarized the latest available data on the Asian flu situation before the 85th annual meeting of the American Public Health Assn. As to Asian flu alone, he said: "The anticipated epidemics are now occurring in various parts of the country, particularly in the middle Atlantic and east north central states."

"Slight to moderate increases in mortality rates is above normal seasonal rates" chiefly among older persons, have occurred in several places where epidemics are in progress."

He said that "future spread of the epidemic can be anticipated in essentially all parts of the country not now affected," and added:

"A high national incidence can be expected to continue for a period of six to eight weeks. The Public Health Service urges that vaccination against influenza be promoted vigorously."

Attack Will Bring Atom Destruction

Spaak Says Military Coup Could Be Signal For Start Of A-War

PARIS (INS)—NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spaak warned Russia today it would suffer atomic destruction in retaliation for any attack on NATO territory.

He specifically included aggression by military coup as a probable signal for the start of an atomic war.

The Belgian statesman told the Paris meeting of NATO parliamentarians: "I am convinced that even a military coup or a small war in Europe means the aggressor has taken a decision for total war."

He emphasized that "each country" in the 15-member North Atlantic Treaty Organization "must be defended with all the means at the disposal of the alliance."

No Partial Attack Spaak added: "Personally, I don't think very much in the possibility of a partial attack."

He also said in a major address to the parliamentarians whose meeting is a prelude to the Dec. 16 summit meeting of NATO government heads:

—NATO, which originally was conceived as a regional alliance, now must have a "coordinated world policy" to present a common front in the world struggle.

It is morally wrong and politically dangerous to think in terms of an alternative between big wars and small wars. He asked who would decide if a war is big or little, and answered: "people will want to say a war is small each time they are not required to intervene, and big each time they must intervene."

Halt Wasteful Competition NATO countries must quit wasteful competition in science and technology. He said this is a hangover from the old nationalistic concept which must be eliminated if members of the alliance are to escape "all becoming secondary powers together."

Spaak criticized NATO governments for failing to give the military what it needs and said the gap is wide and growing.

The veteran Belgian politician emphasized that the drive for a coordinated world policy is "the beginning of a revolution" in the concept of sovereignty.

He explained that the "decisive characteristics of the past centuries have been that big countries had their own national, individual foreign policies."

"They now are being asked to give up some of this," he added, "that is revolutionary."

Only One Source

"The bill is going to have to be paid and there is only one place the money can come from," Truman replied.

Asked specifically if this meant a tax increase, Truman smiled and answered: "Use your head, use your head. Can you find any other way to do it?"

Apparently referring to recent discussion in some political quarters of the possibility of a tax cut, Truman said "I never saw any possibility. That was a great piece of propaganda."

Got Two Increases He recalled that in 1948 and 1947 his administration obtained two tax increases to meet the recovery period after World War II and smilingly asserted that "the Republican Congress passed it. They thought it would beat me, but it didn't."

However, he said, he was unable to get a tax boost during the Korean War.

Informed that President Eisenhower opposed paring foreign aid funds in an effort to trim the budget, Truman commented "That makes good sense."

Second Flu Threat

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Leroy E. Burney, U.S. surgeon general, said today that Asian flu may have started its second trip around the world.

Plan To Send Up Luminous Moon Backed

Christmas? Satellite To Be Peace Symbol, Originator Asserts

WASHINGTON (INS) — A proposal to launch a luminous "Christmas" satellite next month that would glow brightly around the globe "as a symbol of hope and peace" has been endorsed by top U. S. scientists.

The idea came from an editorial which appeared in the Bakersville, N. C., Toe Valley Review. The editorial was written by the publisher, John McConnell, who was in Washington yesterday trying to get his idea to President Eisenhower.

Dr. S. Fred Singer, of the University of Maryland, urged the U. S. to delay launching an instrument-equipped satellite long enough to put up the special "baby moon" during the holiday season.

Singer emphasized that such a project would show the world that the U. S. is mainly interested in peaceful purposes in development of space travel.

McConnell, who has attracted considerable support for the "Star of Hope," said Dr. Paul Hagan, director of the Navy's satellite project Vanguard, told him the idea was both "feasible and constructive."

Also expressing strong interest in the project were Richard Reuter, director of CARE; Stephen Cary, secretary of the American section of the Friends Service Committee; and John L. Peters, president of the World Neighbors, Inc.

Said Simple Matter
Singer, father of project "Far-side" which recently sent a rocket up to a record height above the Pacific Ocean, said it would be "a rather simple matter" to build a satellite without instruments which would glow brightly at night as it travelled around the earth.

The rockets expert said he was certain the glowing satellite would help offset the propaganda advantage the Soviet Union has gained with its two Sputniks.

The Navy, meanwhile, disclosed that the U. S. is prepared to launch satellites that will transmit radio signals indefinitely.

other weapons of the future must be hiked by "a very considerable figure" quite likely killed any remaining hope for a tax cut next year.

Need To Re-examine
After outlining some individual and specific defense costs the President said: "There has been much discussion lately about whether Soviet technological breakthroughs in particular areas may have suddenly exposed us to immediately increased danger."

"As I pointed out last week, this is not the case. But these accomplishments have provided us all with renewed evidence of Soviet competence in science and techniques important to modern warfare. We must, and do, regard this as a time for another critical re-examination of our entire defense system."

The President's talk here climaxed Oklahoma's 50th anniversary "arrows to atoms" celebration of its statehood. He headed back to Washington by plane immediately after the speech.

Atom Missile Launch Sites Plan Studied

PARIS (AP)—NATO's aeronautical research director said today the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is studying plans to build aerial platforms for the launching of nuclear missiles.

These, Dr. Theodore von Karman told a news conference, would be in addition to the submarine nuclear platforms whose production U. S. Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) urged yesterday.

Jackson told the newsmen today the United States is going ahead with development of a nuclear-powered intercontinental ballistic missile. He said it would be a one-stage rocket and more efficient than chemically propelled missiles after 2,000 miles.

Von Karman, former chief scientific adviser to the U. S. Air Force and now director of NATO's aeronautical research and development program, said plans for aerial launching platforms are still only preliminary. He said the underwater ones — using atomic submarines — are not envisaged before 1960.

Von Karman said France's "Flying Atar"—a weird hovering aircraft—could serve as a prototype for the sky launchers.

Von Karman said he believed the Soviet successes with intercontinental ballistic missiles and artificial satellites showed they "have put the fuels of the future into practical use sooner than we did."

Nazi Saboteur's Father Released

WASHINGTON (AP)—A German-born Chicagoan convicted of treason during World War II leaves a federal prison today for deportation to his native land. He can never return to the United States as a free man.

Immigration agents arranged to take the man, Hans Max Haupt, 63, from the federal reformatory at Danbury, Conn., where he has been imprisoned for the past 13 years. Haupt is to leave New York on a nonstop flight to Frankfurt, Germany.

Khrushchev Comments On Variety Of Subjects

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev was in his best cocktail party form again last night, tossing off comments on a wide variety of topics. Some remarks of the Soviet Communist party boss:

"I know the United States doesn't have the kind of rockets we have and you won't have them soon."

President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and all other American leaders would be welcomed in Moscow "— dear friends."

Marshal Georgi Zhukov "did not turn out well as a political figure but as a military figure he was a remarkable man."

"Does anyone doubt" that Britain is a satellite of the United States? Khrushchev immediately apologized for this remark and said he was "ready to take it back."

Khrushchev and most important Soviet government leaders turned up at an Egyptian Embassy reception honoring Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, visiting Egyptian minister of war and joint commander of Egyptian and Syrian troops.

Khrushchev proposed a toast "to our armies—the armies of the Soviet Union, Egypt and Syria." Both the Egyptian and Syrian armies are armed and advised by Russia.

A British correspondent suggested to Khrushchev that the Soviet Union halt firing of its big rockets.

"We have to test them," the Soviet leader said. "What can we do, pickle them?"

"Put them in a museum," a reporter suggested.

"No room," Khrushchev replied. "Let's sink them all at sea. We'd be happy to do that if you do."

An American correspondent asked, "What if we don't have the same type to sink?"

"Certainly," Khrushchev said. "I know you don't have the kind of rockets we have, and you won't have them soon."

Khrushchev said Zhukov, who was recently ousted from the Defense Ministry and from high

Truman Says Sputniks Not Chief Worry

Should Concentrate On Rights Problems, Ex-President States

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry Truman says the nation should stop worrying about Russia's Sputniks and concentrate on civil rights, including the problem posed by Little Rock.

Truman, speaking last night at a dinner of the Joint Defense Appeal of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith, said:

"Don't worry about the Sputniks. We can take care of that situation. Let's make sure we preserve the greatest inspiration we can give the world, the liberties and rights we profess through one of the most wonderful documents in the world—the Constitution of the United States."

He added: "Our attitude on this vital struggle for equal opportunity and human liberty is being watched by the world."

Before the dinner at the Commodore Hotel, Truman told newsmen the Eisenhower administration "inherited a bipartisan foreign policy, and they threw it out the window, and it's a little late now to start one."

Flu Death Toll Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Public Health Service reported today that the number of deaths from influenza and pneumonia since Sept. 1 totaled 2,410 more than for the same period last year.

Nearly 90 per cent of the increase occurred in the past six weeks and was attributed largely to complications resulting from Asian flu.

Reports from 38 states show that the number of new cases of influenza and influenza-like disease was 1,100,000 for the week ending last Saturday.

Almost 75 per cent of the human body is water.

Proposal For Standby Controls Gets Cool Reception By Eisenhower Camp

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration gave a cool reception today to a proposal that Congress quickly enact a standby law providing wage, price, credit and rationing controls.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) suggested the action yesterday at a two-day conference of 1,200 businessmen, members of the National Defense Executive Reserve.

Government officials attending the sessions indicated clearly, however, the administration would neither recommend nor request the standby power.

"Unquestionably the administration would accept standby authority if Congress voted it," one high mobilization official said, adding: "But we won't ask for it. This administration is committed to a policy of avoiding direct economic controls if possible."

He and others who commented along the same line declined to be quoted by name.

The reservists are business executives who have served in Washington and stand ready to return in event of mobilization. Capehart told them that the perils now facing the country make it advisable to set up the legal framework for wartime economic regulation.

But Sen. Bennett (R-Utah) said in an interview that "controls won't solve the problem."

Bennett called instead for limited spending. He said that if more money is needed for missile development and other defense needs, as President Eisenhower said in a radio-TV talk last night, the extra amount ought to be shaved off other activities to prevent deficit spending.

Censor Head Would Bar Kids From Some Films

BALTIMORE (AP) — The chairman of the Maryland State Board of Censors says he will seek a law authorizing the board to bar children under 16 from designated films.

C. Morton Goldstein announced plans to push for the law yesterday after Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert ruled that special legislation is necessary to make such a restriction legal.

Sybert said he believed the restriction would be constitutional provided it applied to all youngsters under 16 and if exact standards of judgment to apply to the censored films were spelled out.

Goldstein said he asked Sybert to draw up a bill which would meet the attorney general's requirements. The board chairman said he also had sent copies of the legal opinion to members of the Legislative Council for their information and recommendation.

Sybert had been asked to rule on the general constitutionality of the proposed restrictions as well as on the question of barring children under 16 who were not accompanied by a parent.

The attorney general said he did not believe the proposed amendment should be drawn to permit some children to see a restricted film when accompanied by their parents and forbid others who are not accompanied by their parents. Sybert said "the same harm" would be done in either case.

Maryland Farms Decline By About 700 Per Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland farms are decreasing in number by an estimated 700 or 800 a year. Newly revised figures of the Department of Agriculture show that the rate of decrease since 1935, however, is less than the national average.

In 1935, Maryland had an estimated 44,400 farms. By last year, this number had decreased to an estimated 34,300, a drop of about 22 per cent.

The estimated yearly decrease recently has varied from 600 to 900.

The decrease is brought about by a number of factors, such as expansion of metropolitan and industrial areas and consolidation of farms, a department official said.

It is pretty much guess work, he added, whether the rate of decrease will soon level off. He recalled that a leveling off was guessed in 1950, only to be proved wrong by later census and department figures.

Department figures dating back to 1910 show Maryland farms reached an estimated high of 49,000 during several years prior to 1935.

The peak number of farms in the nation occurred in 1935, the department figures show. The estimated 6,813,700 farms then were about 27 per cent more than the 1956 estimate of 4,968,800.

ENROUTE TO MOTHER—Coast Guard Seaman Gerald Osowski, transferred to a freighter in mid-Atlantic Saturday, waits at New York's International Airport to board a plane for Minneapolis where his mother, Mrs. Ray Osowski, is critically ill. Osowski, a commissary man on the Castle Rock, Coast Guard weather ship stationed 1,000 miles east of Halifax, Nova Scotia, received word Friday of his mother's illness. He was taken off the cutter Saturday by the freighter Kinderdyk, which reached New York late yesterday. (AP Photofax)

Kimble Announces New Bill Collecting Policy

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland official said today his department will no longer send out bills for one penny in back taxes.

Robert B. Kimble, director of the Department of Employment Security, said 300 such bills had been mailed to employers who had underpaid employment security taxes by that amount.

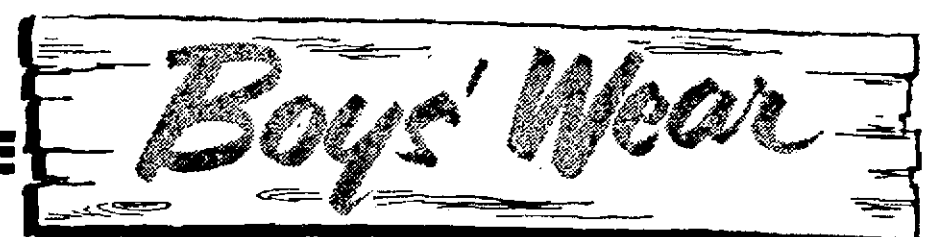

"They apparently had figured their taxes to something like $1.75 and just ignored the fraction," said Kimble.

He said about 20 employers denied for the penny had written him to complain about the bills. Most of them enclosed the penny with their letters, he added.

In the future, said Kimble, the department will not attempt to collect further from employers who underpay their bills by less than $1. Nor will it refund over-payments of less than $1 unless requested, he said.

Dulles' "No" Is Bar To U. S. Initiative

WASHINGTON — You can remember a few years back how the Soviet representative on the United Nations Security Council—Andrei Gromyko—got to saying "Nyet" to every proposal. It came to be one of those national jokes with us that we love to bat around, thus:

"Mr. Gromyko—he say 'Nyet'!" That was in the days when we had the atom bomb and Russia didn't and Russia was feeling frustrated. The Russians got the bomb in time, and also the hydrogen bomb, and the two big, sprawling new world powers were then at a sort of standoff, big noise-wise. Now, with her missiles and earth satellites, Russia has stepped ahead in that area and we, for the moment, are frustrated.

NOW WE HAVE—and in fact, we have had for some time—our own echo for Gromyko. He is Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Dulles parrots "no" regularly to Russian proposals for negotiations for a long-term peace, for which this seems to be getting close to the appropriate moment in history when somebody ought to sit down and do something—or else!

His latest "no" was in reply to the proposal by Russian big boss Khrushchev for a summit meeting between the two of us covering disarmament and all other matters in dispute and then to have a general conference to bring other nations into agreement.

This came forth in Khrushchev's three-hour speech during the 40th anniversary celebration of the Russian Revolution in which, we recognized, he was flexing his muscles a bit and laying it on thick, taking advantage of Russia's thrust into space with a couple of satellites. He capitalized on the favorable psychology created by the space advances.

AGAIN, AS so often in the past, the Russians were setting themselves up as the champions of peace and, regretful as it is to say it, they seem to be making headway. It is about time we did something on our own to take the initiative instead of just saying, through Secretary Dulles, "No." Dulles' position is understandable. A summit meeting between the two of us goes way back in its inception. Clear back, indeed, to Joseph Stalin who, even before World War II was over, was proposing that the two of us "divide up" the world between us.

We recognize today, as we have before, that this is an effort to alienate our free world allies, to drive them into "neutrality" and thus weaken the West. Again, as before, Dulles pointed it out, just as did former Secretary of State Dean Acheson in the Truman Administration. But this time Russia has another wrinkle. That is in bringing the rest of the big powers into another general conference afterward. The reason, it is presumed, is because she has an ally of her own whom she wants to keep by her side—Red China—and in the general conference she would insist on Red China's inclusion.

RECENTLY Russia has sought to strengthen her position with the rest of the world by her proposal in the United Nations to broaden disarmament negotiations by setting up a "permanent" commission representing all U. N. members, big and small, with the meetings open to the world. She would scrap the present Disarmament subcommittee consisting of Britain, France, Canada, Russia and the United States.

Unless that were done, she has announced she would negotiate no further on disarmament and, in fact, she has withdrawn from the U. N. subcommittee.

Her resolution to broaden the committee was defeated a few days ago in the U. N. Assembly, 51 to 9, at the same time that the resolution sponsored by 25 Western nations, including us, to continue the existing subcommittee was approved, 57 to 9.

But this settles nothing, though it seems to be generally understood that the committee will be broadened eventually with our approval.

WE CANNOT continue on a negative course. Dulles cannot keep on saying "No" if we expect to recover the initiative in the world which, in fact, we haven't enjoyed for a long time.

It would seem a good time, while Russia appears in a more affable mood in the flush of her missiles—satellite achievements, for us to counter with new and bold moves toward peace while striving in every way to catch up in the field of space operations.

Some say it could be too late unless we stop imitating Gromyko. Despite Russia's space progress, we are still as strong as the Soviets. That being so, we can now step out boldly, when all the world seems to be waiting, and show our willingness to meet Russia half way, or induce her to meet us half way—not, of course, at the expense of our allies, but with all on each side included.

NEW YORK — Reginald Denham, Esq., Via Archimede 69, Rome, Italy.

Dear Reggie: What you said the other day was that driving an automobile in Rome was like trying to walk calmly through a swarm of suddenly irritated wasps. And then you spoke of the single accident you have had, when you backed your millicent, the four-wheeled motorcycle with five forwards and two reverses, into a parked car and neatly sliced away its radiator cover.

You said "the row between the owner and me was classic and people at nearby restaurants laid down their knives and forks to watch the show. Fortunately, it only cost me $18."

Old bird-watcher, you were had! I checked the importers here and find that, in Rome, such a cover is worth $7.55, U.S.

SPEAKING of bird-watchers, which you are, you may be diverted to learn that one of the most famous, or infamous, bird-watchers of all time is now in the news, in a personally serialized daily newspaper feature, in a book and in a play, and all simultaneously.

It is impossible to go to any New York gathering of more than four persons without having one fix you with a glittering stare and demand peremptorily whether you do or do not believe that Nathan Leopold should be paroled after passing 33 years in prison.

The year of the Leopold-Leob crime was the year I came to New York. It was a much more tranquil New York then. There was less of everything, including people. It was summer and the papers were filled with the despatches from Chicago.

AT THAT TIME, and in that climate of hysteria, Clarence Darrow was able to save the necks of the two boys by opening wide the psychiatric door in jurisprudence. He got $130,000 for the job and it probably was worth every cent of it. In any case, Leopold has been turned down on his bid for parole now, and all media in sight with the possible exception of TV, which is squeamish about human truths, are laboring the point.

I just thought that you, as a fellow watcher of birds, might be interested. Whether he should or should not be paroled is not my problem, thank heaven.

WASHINGTON — The Madison Avenue inventors — I'm talking about the boys who write the auto ads — have outdone themselves this year.

They have invented for the 1958 models devices so wonderful that I don't even know what they're talking about. They've even figured out a new way to spell a three-letter word. Air, according to some of them, now is spelled aire, as in Ford aire suspension and torsionaire suspension.

Torsionaire, I think, is airless. Ford aire has air inside of bellows to take the place of springs. The Oldsmobile has a new-matic ride (this also includes air), while Buick features air-poise suspension and Chevrolet, level air suspension. Old-style spelling on these latter two airs, please.

THINGS GROW complicated when you get into such wonders as quadropoise suspension, circles of steel safety bodies, aero-frame chassis, the safe-T-track differential, the memo-matic seat (you think maybe it takes dictation?) and the sportable transistor radio.

You think I'm spoofing? Take a look at the ads. There's the new super-hydramatic and the safe-guard speedometer.

There also is jet stream styling, deep-sculptured styling, flight sweep styling and silver dart styling, and that, in my book, is some styling.

There's the turbo-thrust V-8, the super turbo-thrust V-8, the R-12,000 engine, the turbo-flash V-8, the interceptor engine, the fire-power engine, the blue-flame engine, the golden commando V-8 and — my favorite — the tempest 395 engine. So far as I know, this is the first year that engines have numbers for names.

THESE POWER plants are equipped with such items as quadrajel carburetion, tri-power carburetion, ram jet fuel injection and precision fuel induction. One car includes in the same package a sculptured rear deck, a power-flow hood and a slip-stream roof.

It has safety-twin headlights, safety-twin tail lights and magic circle steering. This is not the one with the steel circle body, but it does have cruiseomatic spending over 300 million dollars a year on research contracts in educational institutions for this work. This is not counted in research expenditures.

Also not counted are 28 million dollars' worth of government training grants to scientific educational institutions and another 15 million to strengthen science teaching.

If all this money and effort cannot produce science second to none in the world, there is something radically wrong with the system, somewhere. It is being suggested that maybe this is where Congress should begin its coming investigation.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Everyone is familiar with the tired businessman, who returns home at the end of the day exhausted.

"You're working too hard," his friends tell him. "It's killing you."

But it isn't the work he does at the office that makes the tired businessman so tired. It's the stress and strain of mind and body he must undergo before he gets to the office.

It is said that former President Harry Truman prides himself on the fact that he can rise, dress and be able to meet the problems of the day within 10 minutes.

The average business employee, however, isn't that efficient. Here is the schedule for typical office hero after the alarm clock bugles him awake at 7 a. m.

TIME SPENT covering under covers until wife comes and drags him out—10 minutes.

Time spent admiring results in bedroom mirror—5 minutes.

Time spent showering, including period spent crawling around on tiles looking for soap—4 minutes.

Time spent shaving, brushing teeth and drinking sodium bicarbonate—4 minutes.

Time spent waiting at breakfast table for burnt toast to arrive—5 minutes.

Time spent silently grimacing at burnt toast—30 seconds.

Time spent listening to wife explaining that, if he doesn't like way bread is toasted, he can go out in kitchen and toast his own—3 minutes.

Time spent trying to read newspaper—2 minutes.

Time spent trying to explain to wife why it is necessary for him to read at breakfast table—4 minutes.

TIME SPENT running to bus stop—2 minutes.

Time spent waiting in line to get on bus—6 minutes.

Time spent fighting three stronger, younger men for seat on bus—5 minutes.

Time spent guiltily trying to avoid gaze of standing middle-aged lady so won't have to get up and give her his seat—25 minutes.

Time spent explaining to boss reasons why has to show up 10 minutes late every morning, when every other man in office can make it by 9 o'clock sharp—5 minutes.

It is now 9:15, and our hero is so worn out and upset he has to sneak down to drugstore counter for second bicarbonate of soda.

Our tired businessman is already so tired, merely from the ordeal of getting to work, that he will have to loaf on the job all day merely to get up enough strength to make the voyage home at dusk.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—It has been much too long, I feel, since I enriched your lives with a bon mot from Gwendolyn Cafritz, our electrified bon motorwoman. This is not due, however, to any falling off in the quality of the lady's bon mots. She is as superb as the day she won her first bon motting world championship, back in the days before she ever crossed canapes with Perle Mesta. It is just that I have permitted myself to be distracted from the really worth-while things of Washington.

I have been sadly, almost criminally, remiss in not keeping you au courant with the sapient sayings of our punditlike hostess. Owing to my neglect you might have feared that she was taking an international geographical year in the Antarctic, or running for governor of California.

I NOW ENDEAVOR to make small amends by reporting that she has been on the job all the time, hostessing like a beaver, although without one of its coats. The Maine fur trappers apparently didn't have enough heavier skins left after making a coat for Mamie, so Gwendolyn has had to brave the cold world with only her minks and ermines, and her feud with Mrs. Mesta, to keep her hot.

The other night Mrs. Cafritz got off a bon mot that I feel should live as long as Washington society maintains contact with this planet. She was seated, in evening-gowned splendor, at one of our rare soirees when former Secretary of the Senate Leslie L. Biffle came up behind her and affectionately tickled her back.

Mrs. Cafritz waved politely for him to move on out of earshot, then fascinated us all by saying:

"I wish he would be more careful about tickling my back during the social season."

We waited, agog, for fuller explanation. At last, Gwendolyn amplified graciously:

"I have to use my back so much at the height of the season. The styles, you know. It is much smarter to be decollete in back than in front."

ANYONE WHO cares to gaze upon happy faces during this period of longissimodorm would be advised to drop into the Democratic National Committee. It has a mathematics squad which computes percentages from dawn to dusk in a merry glow.

This laughing squadron calculates how many votes were lost by a Republican candidate because he received a good word from President Eisenhower or a visit from Vice President Nixon.

I wandered into the Democratic stronghold the other day and passed a cubical in which sat a pretty young woman named Gladys, pouring over figures. Just then she leaped up and danced a merry rigodon. When she had finally spent herself, she panted gasily: "He blew five out of seven for him!"

I called for an interpreter, who explained—amid innocent guffaws—that Gladys had just finished a week's computing and figured five out of seven counties in New Jersey did worse for Malcolm Forbes, the GOP candidate for Governor, because Vice President Nixon visited them on behalf of Forbes.

Before I finally escaped the premises, the happy mathematicians figured that any Democrat could beat any Republican next year in New Jersey; that the same went for California; and that any Republican who received a good word from Ike, or a visit from Nixon, was doomed before he got started.

Why aren't mathematical brains like those being utilized on the missile and moon programs?

Worse Than Death

SINCE OCTOBER 4, when the Russians launched their first man-made satellite, we in the United States have been living in a changed world. The changes are of two kinds, and they interlock. One is strategic. The nuclear stalemate between the Soviet Union and the West no longer prevails. Russia's demonstrated advances in long-range missiles give it an edge in the world-power struggle, despite our many continuing superiorities. The second is political. Whatever the true material and military balance between the United States and Russia, much of the world today believes not only that we have lost our critical margin of supremacy but that we may be driven to the limit ever to maintain it consistently again.

ON THE STRATEGIC level, our course is simple but extraordinarily difficult. We must catch and pass the Russians in the field of decisive weapons. Until we do we are not safe. In the political realm our task is immensely more complex. For even if we achieve our strategic goals, we can have no assurance that the world will look to us again for leadership in the great quests of peace and justice. Russia's scientific triumphs, whether transitory or not, have planted new and deeper fears in the hearts of millions in free lands—neutral, uncommitted, even some allied with us. These fears, of death by radiation, of annihilation by the colossal force of nuclear power, are understandable. We all have them.

WE CANNOT HOPE to eradicate these perfectly human tremors. Men like to live, and we are unlikely to persuade any of them that the prospect of unnatural death is a good thing. But all who cherish liberty know there is something worse than such a death. That is the death in life which bears the name tyranny. Somehow we must win millions more of the world's troubled peoples to a realization of that cardinal fact. To accomplish this, we must labor as we never have before to give the world the true measure of freedom as we have known it—and the true gauge of tyrannical communism as the Soviet Union and its enslaved or deluded followers practice it.

IT'S PROBABLY difficult to find any friends of Zhukov in Russia these days, despite the fact that not long ago he was praised as a hero. People in Russia are too smart to be treasonous enough to believe what their leaders told them before the leaders changed their minds.

Matter Of Choice

NEVER IN ALL history has there been another era which offered so many means of escape from troubling problems of daily living. Never before has it been as easy as it is now for men and women to seek relief from their problems in the varied stimuli of entertainment and diversion. Music is available in profusion. Reading material of all sorts floods in upon us. That miraculous and disturbing little box called television stands ready to entertain at the flick of a switch. If that does not please us we can go out to the movies. Our technology provides an astonishingly variety of games and sports equipment. It is not suggested, by any means, that this is a bad thing. On the contrary, we who live in this era should be grateful for the unprecedented wealth of entertainment and stimulation that surrounds us. As is the case with many other benefits, however, there are attendant responsibilities. The responsibility, here, is that of selection. What we choose to do with our leisure time—that, in truth, we feed mind and heart—will eventually determine to a large extent the sort of people we become. The man who fills his mind with froth and trivia, who shies away from books and music and drama with any depth of meaning, cannot expect to develop understanding. To the degree that he confines himself to what is frivolous and cheap, or merely entertaining, he reduces his stature as a human being. What it boils down to is that when we open the treasure chest, we should choose from it with care.

THIS YEAR'S wine crop in France is so short that imports may become necessary. With France facing a crisis of such magnitude, imagine us worrying about earth satellites, inflation and other trifles.

Money Lack No Reason For Science Lag

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Prevaling ideas that the United States isn't doing enough scientific research to keep ahead of the Russians aren't borne out by figures on research expenditures.

Over 5.2 billion dollars are being spent by the U.S. government alone for research and development this fiscal year.

It must follow from this that if the right kinds of research aren't being conducted in this country, the cause may be lack of direction through scattering the scientific direction in nine government departments and 16 independent offices.

In all, there are 57 research agencies in government, with literally hundreds of separate projects in each one.

Nearly three-fourths of the government's research expenditures—3.9 billion dollars—are for national security.

A whopping big 1.9 billion dollars of this are for military procurement that is described by the Budget Bureau as being "in support of research, development, test and evaluation activities."

THERE IS no public breakdown on this huge sum. But it goes for missiles, rockets, bombs, planes, ships and new weapons before they go into production for military use.

In other words, they are completely expendable. When they are blown up in testing, there is nothing left to show for them except what has been learned in their experimental use. And what they cost is not charged directly to research and development.

As far as Budget Bureau accounting is concerned, the Department of Defense is charged with only two billion dollars for research. By services, it breaks down to 994 million dollars for the Air Force, 472 million Army and 582 million Navy.

By function, the two biggest items are 331 million dollars for guided missiles and rockets, 278 million for aircraft. The total also includes 228 million dollars for new research facilities—laboratories and plants—and 238 million for the pay of military personnel employed on research.

THE AMOUNT available for research contracts is 1.5 billion. About half of this is performed by private industry.

An order by Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson last August would have cut 170 million dollars from these funds. But they have now been restored by his successor, Neil H. McElroy.

Atomic Energy Commission is furnishing 770 million dollars' worth of research weapons to the armed forces. But in addition to this, AEC has a 140-million research program of its own. The largest item is 87 million for reactor development. For biological and medical research, AEC has 4.5 million.

Excluding the strictly military projects, Department of Health, Education and Welfare has the largest research appropriation this year—187 million dollars. Of this, Public Health Service has 177 million, with 34 million for cancer research, 24 million for heart disease, 17 million for mental health, and so on. PHS has let over 6,000 research contracts.

OTHER MAJOR government research expenditures include: Department of Agriculture, 123 million dollars; National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, 106 million; National Science Foundation, 42 million, including 10 million for international geographical year; Department of Interior, 47 million, and Department of Commerce, 26 million, including 11 million for Bureau of Standards.

How many people are employed on government research contracts is almost beyond computing. But one of the important by-products of government research contracts is the training of over 40,000 scientists on research fellowships.

The government is currently

Satellites May Solve Puzzle Of Mysterious Flying Saucers

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Man's invasion of space should produce a solution to the intriguing mystery of the nature of unidentified flying objects—the UFOs which have turned up again in the wake of Russia's two Sputniks.

This is the belief of the former head of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, Adm. R. H. Hillenkotter.

"Satellite and space exploration programs should give us new, valuable information on UFOs, affording definite evidence as to their reality," he says, "and this will result because of a tremendous increase in observation of the sky by radar and telescope tracking systems and by naked-eye observations." He adds:

"This will certainly increase the number of detailed UFO reports from trained observers—reports including accurate measurement of courses, speeds, altitudes, maneuvers, and sizes and shapes of such objects."

Since leaving as boss of the nation's top-level intelligence agency, the admiral has made himself one of the best-informed flying saucer experts in the country. He is a member of the board of governors of the newly-created National Investigation Committee on Aerial Phenomena, with headquarters here.

NICAP's members include some top scientists and prominent citizens attempting to find scientific answers to the saucer mystery. Members of the board also include J. B. Hartman, president of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association; Dr. Charles A. Maney, professor of astrophysics at DePaul University, and Rev. Leon C. Le Van of Pittsburgh.

They all agree with Adm. Hillenkotter that the advent of space exploration could solve the saucer secrets. And Russia's Sputnik has already greatly increased reports of saucer sightings.

Retired Marine Maj. Donald E. Keyhoe, NICAP director and well-known author on the subject of saucers, reports:

"There are already increases in authentic UFO reports since the Russian satellite drew public attention to the skies. Also, spotters of Operation Moonwatch, the U.S. satellite tracking network, have sighted a number of UFOs during tracking practice over wide areas."

For example, several days after Sputnik's appearance an Air Force jet pilot flying 42,000 feet over Washington at night reported to Moonwatch control center officers here that he saw a disk-shaped object flashing across the sky. Moonwatch officials quickly determined that it could not have been Sputnik.

The relay of the pilot's message was not fast enough to try to track whatever the object was. But the reporting procedure is being speeded up so that tracking any reported UFO will be possible in the future.

"The army of amateur and professional astronomers with all kinds of telescopes, which is organized under Moonwatch, is an ideal organization for checking saucer reports," a spokesman says.

AF Maj. Dewey Fournet, previously the Pentagon project officer on UFO, and now a member of the NICAP board, looks to the future when U.S. satellites will be in the skies in great numbers. He says:

"U.S. satellites—especially the larger ones—can be instrumented to detect or photograph UFOs within their range and transmit details to earth stations."

Maj. Keyhoe elaborates on this idea:

"Russia and the U.S. have announced they are definitely planning several space machines. So it's quite possible that these first space ships or satellites may encounter other interplanetary machines, named or otherwise. Our space devices may even be closely approached by such alien machines."

"If this happens our space devices could be equipped to at-

Keyhoe also adds: "Since the U.S. and the Rus-

IN 58 DAYS A '58 PLYMOUTH RAN 58,000 MILES—EQUAL TO

MORE THAN TWICE AROUND THE WORLD

AND IT DROVE EVERY INCH OF THE WAY!

We knew this car was tough.

We designed it that way.

That's why we weren't afraid to give Plymouth the toughest, true test run of all time...with all America as the "track."

We didn't coddle this Plymouth. Didn't crate it and ship it from place to place. We aimed it out of Los Angeles one misty morning and sent it through a course that ran 58,000 miles through 37 states.

The time limit? Only 58 days.

A thousand miles a day!

The equivalent of 6 years' driving crammed into little more than 8 weeks!

Three times this Plymouth crossed the Rockies. Three times it wound its way up and down across the country...passing through more than 1200 cities and towns. Whipping over turnpikes...creeping through city traffic...arrowing down super-highways...feeling its way through 500 miles of rutted detours. And when the drivers turned the key to end the marathon, it still looked, ran and rode like new.

This is what lasting value really means. The ability to take everything that American roads and weather can dish out—and come up grinning. Why don't you give Plymouth a test drive yourself—today? You'll see what we mean.

That's the Plymouth "track"...and just look at that route! Every possible road and weather condition. Plymouth ran every inch of that murderous route 3 times in just 58 days. What greater proof of lasting, built-in stamina!

Star of the Forward Look... Plymouth ahead for keeps!

Happy Valley Club Sets Date For Christmas Party

The Happy Valley Homemakers Club set the date for its Christmas party and installed Mrs. Sherman C. Twigg Jr., as president at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Lonnie Nesselrodt, Valley Road.

"What new food product have you tried lately?" was the roll call.

The Christmas party will be held December 5 at Naves Dining room. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Elmer Price, or Mrs. Boyd Sulser. Members are to bring a fifty-cent jingle.

Miss Mary Wise, county home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on "Filling your grocery cart."

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Richard McClelland and Mrs. Elmer Price.

High Court Denies Seaway Land Appeal

ALBANY — The Court of Appeals has refused to hear the case of a husband and wife who contended that the State Power Authority had taken their land illegally in connection with the St. Lawrence power project.

The state's highest court denied the motion of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel R. Cuglar to appeal a decision of the Appellate Division.

"King Lear" Discussed By Great Books Group

A discussion of "King Lear" was led by Mrs. A. J. Mirkin and Mrs. Ralph Webster at the meeting of the Great Books Group of the A.A.U.W. at the home of Mrs. John Cuglar, 11, Park Heights, Monday night.

It was discussed as one of the great plays in literature and one of Shakespeare's best, because it is the one in which he was the most in earnest. It also was shown how the subject "Strikes its roots deepest into the human heart." Mrs. Mirkin showed a diagrammatic plot outline of the play. Mrs. Webster presented a chart of the Elizabethan theatre, relating the art of Shakespeare to the limitations of the theatrical means of producing a play in the 16th Century.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John Hafer. Others present were Mrs. C. Anner Suter Jr., Mrs. Max Baslian, Mrs. Paul Castelle, Mrs. Milton Beneman, Mrs. Milton Granet, Mrs. William Durland, Mrs. W. A. Van Ormer, Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Royce Hodges, Mrs. Albert Eskin, Miss Dorothy Harlowe, Mrs. Maurice Milberg, Mrs. A. J. Feigus and Mrs. Adolph Wolfman.

Church Women To Observe Anniversary

The 40th anniversary will be celebrated and officers will be elected by the United Church Women of Cumberland January 3, at the bi-monthly meeting at 10 a. m. in Central Methodist Church, which will be host for the 1958 meetings.

The group made plans for the event at its final meeting for 1957, at Emmanuel Episcopal parish house, Mrs. F. Lee Fresh presiding.

Mrs. Walter Rowe Edwards, chairman for the World Day of Prayer, February 28, 1958, reported on a meeting held last month. Chairmen and participating churches are Mrs. R. Finley Thompson, Central Methodist; Mrs. B. C. McIlwee, St. Matthew's United Church of Christ; Bowling Green; Mrs. H. R. Kight, Calvary Methodist, Ridgeley; Mrs. Charles Moody, Park Place Methodist, LaVale; and Mrs. George R. Alexander, St. John's Lutheran, Cumberland.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Franklin Kremer, who read the Scripture. Her theme was "How Do We Know What Is God's Will for Us," emphasizing prayer for guidance. Routine reports were given by Mrs. George R. Alexander, Mrs. Lester Leader, Mrs. Jack Means, Mrs. John Cook, Mrs. Ross Decker, Mrs. Cass Dye and Mrs. A. H. Northcraft.

Mrs. G. W. Eichner, chairman, reported on the sewing project. Highlights of the Baltimore training meeting for presidents and chairmen were given by Mrs. Ralph Isiminger.

Announcement was made of the National Assembly of United Church Women to be held October 27-30, 1958 in Denver, Colo. Mrs. Henry Pyles, chairman of the World Community Day service, reported 100 women attended and donated clothing and money to be distributed to the needy overseas. She also said the report of the Halloween UNICEF drive was incomplete.

Woman's Civic Club Will Mark 25th Anniversary

The Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland will hold a silver anniversary party celebrating the merger 25 years ago of the Cumberland Civic Club and the Cumberland Woman's Club, next Thursday at the Woman's Civic Club House, 515 Washington Street.

Twelve past presidents of the Woman's Civic Club will be honored on this occasion. They are: Mrs. F. H. Ankeney, Mrs. A. N. Golladay, Miss Elizabeth Lowndes, Mrs. H. T. Robinson, Mrs. J. W. Holmes, Mrs. Thomas LeClear, Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer, Mrs. Arthur C. Bright, Mrs. William A. Douglas, Mrs. Albert W. Kight, Mrs. Charles L. Kopp and Mrs. G. Morgan Smith.

Out of town guests will be Mrs. Charles O. Middlekauff, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Edward Storm, president of First District MFWC, and Mrs. Kight, past president of the Woman's Civic Club who resides in Charlotte, N. C.

The history of the two clubs, compiled by Mrs. Smith, will be presented during the program. Violin solos will be played by Wilton Syckes, accompanied by Peter Schumacher. Several musical numbers will be sung by the Club Choral Group, accompanied by Mrs. John McVicker.

A tea will be held following the program.

The anniversary committee is comprised of Mrs. Douglas, chairman, Mrs. James Pitkethly, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Footer, Mrs. Golladay, Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. W. Edward Solomon, Mrs. R. M. Hainesfuter, Mrs. E. E. Loar, Mrs. T. Donald Shires, Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher, Mrs. Joseph Naughton, Mrs. John Wilkinson, Mrs. Emil Miller and Mrs. Albert List.

McKinley OES Officers Will Give Program

McKinley Chapter 12, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet in Masonic Temple, tomorrow at 8 p.m. Miss Mildred Beck, worthy matron, and Roy V. Ringler, worthy patron, will preside at the business meeting.

A Thanksgiving program will be presented by the officers.

The social hour in the assembly hall following the meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Sara Barringer, Mrs. Edna Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElfish, Mrs. Viola Smith and Mrs. Margaret Will.

Mrs. Crowden Heads BR Fire Auxiliary

Officers were elected and the revised county by-laws were read at the meeting Monday night of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Bedford Road Firemen. It was preceded by a turkey dinner.

The new officers are Mrs. Nancy Crowden, president; Mrs. Virginia Elliott, vice president; Mrs. Inez Sweitzer, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, assistant; Mrs. Anna Lee Roberts, treasurer, and Miss Maxine Sweitzer, trustee.

December 9 was chosen for the date of the Christmas celebration, which will be for the auxiliary, their families, members of the fire company and their families. Members of the auxiliary are to exchange 50-cent jingle gifts. Parents are asked to bring gifts for Santa to distribute to their children. The auxiliary also will sponsor a treat for the children. Mrs. Catherine Purnell was named chairman. Mrs. Sweitzer, Mrs. Genevieve Wotring, Mrs. Florence Thompson and Mrs. Mary Koonz comprise the favors committee; Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Crowden, the program committee. Dinner will be served at 6.

Routine reports were given and a discussion held on how to improve the service. Additional kitchen equipment was authorized to be purchased. The meeting, opened with the Lord's Prayer and closed with the Flag salute. Hostesses were Mrs. Genevieve Wotring, Mrs. Mary Helen Wilson and Mrs. Martha Wotring.

LaVale Fire Auxiliary Sets Party Date

The nominating committee gave its report at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to the LaVale Volunteer Firemen and the county meeting and Christmas party will be held December 13 and the latter December 21. Following the county meeting at the fire hall, a jingle party will be held. All members are to bring a 50-cent gift. Mrs. Emma Youngblood, Mrs. Fannie Kemp and Mrs. Lela Lancaster will be in charge of decorations and tables, and Mrs. Ann Kammauf, Mrs. Flo Alexander and Mrs. Jeannette Pritts, refreshments.

The installation of auxiliary officers will be held at the Christmas party.

Mrs. Gladys Burkey was nominated for president; Mrs. Leona Long, Mrs. Flo Alexander, vice presidents; Mrs. Leola Knierum, recording secretary; Mrs. Elda Schell, financial secretary; Mrs. Guenna Pryer, treasurer; Mrs. Carrie Eshbaugh, guard; Mrs. Pritts, historian; Mrs. Elizabeth Moody, chaplain; Mrs. Bessie Zembower, Mrs. Elizabeth Zembower and Mrs. Shirley Stimler, auditors. Nominations from the floor will be taken at the meeting November 22.

Following the Lord's Prayer in unison, the flag salute was given and routine reports made. A letter from William Albert, chairman of the state ways and means committee was read. Mrs. Vera Jewell won the award for the evening. Thirteen members attended.

Emmanuel Episcopal Bazar To Operate Until 9 Tonight

The "Carnival Bazar" of Emmanuel Episcopal Church is being held today in the parish house, opening at noon with a business men's luncheon.

The parish house is decorated in the "carnival" motif for the event which is held annually with members of the Woman's Guild and congregation aiding in making the one-day affair a success. The ways and means committee, Mrs. John Geare chairman, is in charge.

A turkey dinner is being served from 5:30 until 7 p. m. under the direction of Mrs. Owen E. Hitchins.

Booths, in colorful decorations, will operate until 9 p. m. They have gifts of all kinds, baked foods, home canned vegetables and fruits, candy, cookies and other articles of handwork.

Events Briefly Noted

Unit 136 American Legion Auxiliary, Ridgeley, will meet tonight at the post home.

A dinner and card party will be held by the Women's Sport Club tonight at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Holmes Cessna will report on the state convention at the meeting of the Women's Republican Club today at 7:45 p. m. at Central YMCA. Players are to bring their own cards for the party following.

District 16, Ladies Auxiliary will serve a turkey dinner from 4 until 7 p. m. today at the fire hall.

Proceeds Of Bridge Game Will Go To Cancer Fund

The Western Maryland Bridge Association will sponsor a full master point game tonight at the Woman's Civic Club House. The proceeds will go to the American Cancer Society. The event is open to the public.

Tuesday night the Potomac Valley Bridge Club played seven and a half tables, also at the club house. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Green, Frostburg, topped the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Green posted the top score in the east-west section. Placing second was the team of Mrs. William Snyder and Mrs. Ralph Nevy, while Mrs. Madeline Mewshaw and A. J. Feigus finished third.

Winners in the north-south section were George F. Bottorf and J. D. Paddleford, first; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Trimmer, second, and Thomas E. Hannon and Mrs. Bottorf, third.

Fairview Society To Give Gifts For Church Kitchen

The WSCS members of Fairview Avenue Methodist Church will purchase a gift for the church kitchen and give a gift to the missions, according to plans made at the meeting for the Christmas party. The gifts will be given instead of members holding a jingle party.

Mrs. Lola Stewart presided at the business session. It was announced the missionary for the new year is Francis Keiffer. Mrs. Vallie Welker and Mrs. B. F. Hartman reported on the zone meeting held in Hagerstown. A report on the study course on Japan being given at Centre Street Church, was given by Mrs. Stewart.

It was voted to send a cash donation to Sibley Memorial Hospital in Baltimore. A rummage sale will be held Thursday from 1 until 3 p. m. The proceeds are for the church debt fund.

Mrs. Mabel Watkins was in charge of the devotionals. The group opened the service with the singing of "Oh for a Thousand Tongues to Sing," and "Almighty Lord with One Accord." Mrs. Watkins read the Scripture. Mrs. Bertha Rice and Mrs. Amelia Miller did a dialogue, "The Classroom of the Burning Bush." Rev. B. F. Hartman spoke on "Students in the Religious Field." The devotionals closed with benediction.

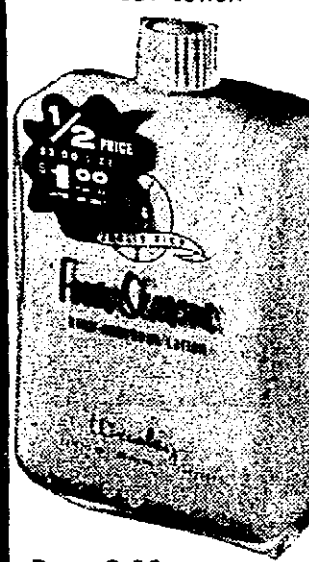

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Justina Clayton. Others present were Mrs. Bertha Ash, Mrs. Bertha Rice, Mrs. Miriam Webster, Mrs. Minola Baker, Mrs. Gladys Baker and Mrs. Katherine Groves.

Wall Street Hears...

NEW YORK — (INS) — Wall Street Hears: Substantial inventories in bonds — both new and outstanding issues — are bringing some forced liquidation and tax loss selling, despite the general feeling that, with money rates topping out, bonds are in a buying zone.

Brazil Would Increase Crops

Certain steel companies have thus far been able to maintain earning power relatively well despite contracting volume. H. Pan Henz & Co. points out. Outstanding in this respect it lists Armco, Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and the Youngstown which, it says, are selling between 7 and 10 times indicated 1957 earnings.

Sheraton Corp. gross for the six months ended Oct. 31 was at a record $81 millions, but due mainly to high depreciation charges, profits were slightly below the 76 cents of a year ago.

Russia, according to money expert Franz Pick, is now busily selling 12 to 15 tons of gold a week (at $1,125,000 a ton) in order to build up dollar balances to meet trade deficits. Gold is winding primarily with the British and in the Middle East.

Market Comment — Heinz H. Biel of Emanuel, Deetjen & Co.: "General dullness and relative immunity to bad news, the usual symptoms which are characteristic for the end of a major downward trend, are conspicuously absent. The present market is anything but dull, and both the market as well as individual stocks are still highly sensitive to ad-

Ceylon Drops Nationalization

COLOMBO, Ceylon — Proposals in the Cabinet to nationalize 260,000 acres of foreign-owned tea estates in Ceylon has been abandoned.

Nationalization of the plantations, mostly British-held, which earn about 52 per cent of Ceylon's export income, was one of the chief election pledges of Prime Minister S. W. R. D. Bandaranaike's Peoples United Front coalition in April last year.

At a stormy Cabinet meeting, the Right-wing Finance Minister, Stanley De Zoysa, said statements by the Food Minister, Philip Gunawardena, threatening nationalization, "had undermined the confidence of foreign investors and kept away from Ceylon much needed foreign capital investment."

Calling Stevenson May Curb Partisan Debate

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration evidently hopes to limit partisan debate on some major foreign issues by bringing Adlai Stevenson into preparation of plans for next month's summit conference in Paris.

The Democratic leader has accepted a bid from the Republican administration to come here next Monday and confer with Secretary of State Dulles. The State Department presumably hopes to have tentative proposals for the NATO meeting worked out by that time.

The invitation to Stevenson and his acceptance were the latest moves in a cautious political and policy negotiation designed to revive bipartisanship in foreign affairs in the face of Russia's gains in military power.

How well the effort will succeed, in forestalling sharp party controversy when Congress returns in January depends mainly on two critical factors:

1. The extent to which President Eisenhower and Dulles consult with Stevenson in detail and accept his ideas in shaping their program.

2. The degree of support Stevenson can muster among Democratic leaders in Congress for any plans to which he may decide to commit himself.

Results of the Monday meeting which could also lead to a talk between Stevenson and Eisenhower—may show clearly how much bipartisan cooperation is to be expected.

Stevenson himself has clearly reserved his right to criticize any proposals with which he disagrees.

While the issues have not yet been publicly stated by Eisenhower or Dulles, their known approach to the NATO summit meeting in mid-December makes it clear that they have in mind some radical propositions.

Eisenhower has already declared he would seek changes in the law to permit sharing atomic secrets with Allied nations. The administration is also expected to ask for an increase in funds available, either as loans or grants, for aid to foreign countries.

Oldest Catholic university in the United States is Georgetown University, at Washington, D. C., founded in 1789.

Tony Bennett Doesn't Want His Own Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In a season when every singer wants his own television program—and nearly everyone has a show—Tony Bennett is an exception. He doesn't want his own program—yet.

All jazzophiles know Bennett. Hit records, a popular night club act, frequent guest appearances on TV... Bennett's way at the top in his field. But even a jazzphobe would enjoy meeting him. He's a pleasant, modest, articulate guy who rather reminds you of Perry Como before absolutely everybody knew Como.

Here's what we mean: Three of Bennett's friends, seated around him the other day, were telling a fellow that Bennett had turned down several offers for his own show.

"Look, don't give the impression that the networks were clubbing each other over the head to get me," Bennett said. "There was an opportunity and if I'd tried hard for it maybe I'd have gotten it, but I didn't want my own show."

That's interesting. Why not? "I'm not ready for it yet, I feel," Bennett said. "I have a lot to learn. You might say I'm trying to study television, and there's no better opportunity to do that than appearing in guest spots."

Sunday evening, for example, he will appear on the Ed Sullivan Show. Last Sunday he appeared on the Steve Allen Show. He's been a frequent Como guest and has—and will—appear on many another variety program.

"It may be two or three years before I'm ready for my own show," Bennett said. "I don't want to go on just as a name after a network has given me something to do. That just doesn't work out."

"Dust Devil" Takes Boat On Short Trip

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A "dust devil"—a small, localized whirl of wind caused by excessive and uneven heating of air near the ground—carried a 90-pound boat over a backyard fence here and dropped it 80 feet away.

Had he been on the scene, the boat owner might have taken a scientific interest in the scene. He's Bob Burwell, an observer at the Columbus Weather Bureau.

The bo tree, or Tree of Wisdom, is the sacred tree of India. It is one of the fig trees and is to study television, and there's no

Radio Station Says Ad Tax Would Crush It

BALTIMORE (AP) — An official of Radio Station WBMD says flatly that a proposed 9½ per cent tax on advertising "will put us out of business overnight."

Deputy City Solicitor Hugo A. Ricciuti contends the tax is much better than a direct tax on consumers because it has more chance to be assumed by those who can better afford it.

A spokesman for a group representing 118 labor unions gets to his feet to say, "We are against hidden taxes and this is a hidden tax. We like to see what we're being taxed for."

A former judge and revenue expert denounces the tax as unconstitutional and discriminatory.

This was the scene at City Hall yesterday as a city council committee held a public hearing on the controversial tax proposal, aimed at helping plug a $17½ million-dollar revenue need for the city budget.

The hearing was scheduled for three hours but dragged on for twice that long. The majority of the seven committee members left no doubt they favored the bill. One voiced his opposition publicly.

The WBMD official, General Manager Shelton Earp, told the committee:

"Our very best and largest advertisers have already informed us that they will have to reduce their advertising on our station by 7½ per cent because they can't afford to pay it. We can't absorb it because it represents more than our total net profit."

The proposal embraces two related taxes. One would impose a Wide Exports Seen Possible

SYDNEY, Australia.—Two representatives of the Commonwealth (Government) Trading Bank who returned here from a six-week trade tour of New Zealand said there was wide scope for increasing exports from Australia to New Zealand, according to the Australian News and Information Bureau.

The growth of industry in New Zealand is opening valuable markets for many commodities, especially Australian-made machinery, electrical components, cars and car parts, the representatives said.

The only condition the New Zealand Government imposed on importation of more Australian goods was a proportionate increase in Australian purchases of such New Zealand commodities as newsprint, timber and canned goods.

'THE WORLD'S SAFEST AUTOMOBILE'—In New York, Rev. Alfred Juliano, Roman Catholic priest and student of fine arts at Yale University, sits behind wheel of the "Aurora," the automobile which he designed and built himself.

The car, called by Rev. Juliano "the world's safest automobile," features a front-end air scoop instead of a grill, a fiberglass-laminated body and floor, and a tinted, transparent roof.

U. S. Military Group On Tour

ADELAIDE, Australia.—A United States Government technical mission now in Australia to examine Australia's potential for manufacture of United States military equipment visited the Woomera Rocket Range in central Australia.

While at Woomera, they inspected range facilities and full firings and test flights of the Jindivik, Australian-made jet-propelled pilotless target aircraft, according to the Australian News and Information Bureau.

Some members flew from Woomera to Whyalla to inspect the Broken Hill Proprietary, Ltd., shipyards there. Industries in Adelaide and Newcastle also will be inspected.

Michigan's state police was first such organization to use radio, setting up the system in 1929.

Baby's Father Will Remain Anonymous

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Film actress Eva Bartok today refused to name the father of the baby girl born to her in London five weeks ago.

"I'm very happy and want to stay happy and therefore have nothing to say to the press concerning my private life," the sultry Hungarian actress told a reporter over the telephone.

Miss Bartok was estranged more than a year ago and subsequently divorced from her fourth husband, German actor-director Curt Jurgens. While making a film in Hollywood, she figured in a slapping incident last April between her second husband, producer-director Alexander Paal, and Francis B. Murray, an electronics engineer she had dated.

The baby was born Oct. 7 in a London clinic. Miss Bartok arrived in Munich Sunday to make a picture.

She said the baby, named Deana Grazia, is now in London with friends of hers and she plans to return there around Christmas.

'On The Beach' Success Baffles Creator

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — Nevil Shute is still a little baffled: His latest novel, "On The Beach," has turned out to be a best-seller—despite the fact that it is a too-possible picture of how life on earth will be snuffed out by radiation pollution in the wake of atomic war.

"I thought it very likely that my publishers would ask me to be excused from publishing it," he said in an airmail interview with NEA Service from his home in Australia. And if published, he thought, the book would have few readers.

At his publishers office in New York, one editor said: "Of course we'd publish almost anything that Nevil Shute wrote. But we had to think twice about readership on this one."

"On The Beach," however, is pushing the 100,000-sales mark and will probably go higher.

Essentially, it is a story of the earth's southern hemisphere, given an extra year of life as wind currents slowly bear the deadly atomic dust south, forcing the last survivors of life—all life—into extinction.

"It became an attractive speculation," author Shute said. "What would ordinary people in my part of the world do with that year?"

As an author of 19 books, Shute left a successful career as an aviation engineer in England to write. Since 1951 he has lived in Australia with his wife and their two children where he runs a successful dairy farm.

"On The Beach," he explained, had been conceived and written in his usual way: First he gets interested in a subject and what kinds of people would be involved with it. With his list of characters and the "mess" they'd get into, it takes him about seven months of daily writing from 9:30 until noon to finish his story, and another two months to revise.

With "On The Beach" he had been afraid the story and its implications were too big for him. But the book became so compelling, he explained, that he decided he should write it.

Q. Does the great question the book poses still obsess him?

A. "This question no longer troubles me. I've done all I can about it. I doubt if I shall write about it again."

Q. Does he really believe mankind is headed for this kind of end?

NEVIL SHUTE: Will the common man assert himself?

A. "As I grow older (he is 58), I am more and more impressed with the ineptitude and the stupidity of statesmen. Eden, Macmillan, Eisenhower, Dulles, Nasser and all the Russians seem to me to be quite incompetent to handle the enormous power that modern technology has placed in their hands. . . . It may be that modern problems make impossible demands on any human statesman, or it may be that modern democratic systems do not give us the right type of leader."

"However that may be, I do not think we can depend on their wisdom to avert a full scale nuclear war and so I think that the end which I have postulated in "On The Beach" may quite well happen."

Q. As the author of a book of finale, does he find himself like a condemned man where each phenomenon, event, feeling may be the last.

A. "No. If it happens, too bad—but no worse than any other form of death, which may come at any time. I may be killed upon the road tomorrow."

Q. Nowhere in the book did he explore church or religion. Why?

A. (He explained that he had stated his chief character went to church regularly, and that church attendance was slight). "Self-destruction is forbidden to Roman Catholics, and for this reason alone religion had to be played down—or much of the book would have had to be devoted to religious discussion."

"Australia is not a very religious country, however, and in that locality I do not think that religion would have played a very great part in the story."

Q. Could he comment on the creed of some literary men today: "Man will not only survive; he will prevail?"

A. "This seems to be to be very woolly thinking in a context of reality. If Colonel Nasser had had nuclear bombs at the time of Suez he would certainly have dropped them upon Israel. Would man have survived and prevailed in Israel then?"

Q. A visitor to the great museums of Europe said: "I'm glad I made this tour. Now I cannot believe that man will do away with himself." Is this wishful thinking only?

A. "No more than wishful thinking. I recommend your friend to make a further tour of the aerodromes of Strategic Air Command surrounding and threatening Russia and ask if she may inspect their aircraft, weapons and operational plans."

Q. What has the reaction been to "On The Beach."

A. "The reaction has been far more favorable than I expected. This is the one hopeful factor in the situation, that the common man may assert himself against the follies of his statesmen."

Noise Causes Violence

NEW YORK (U-A) — A psychologist says noise contributes toward violence in both humans and animals. Dr. Fabian Rourke, head of the psychology department at Manhattan College, has been asked to organize a research group and conduct a study of noise hazards for New York's "quiet city" campaign.

Rourke said, "It is known that high-frequency sound waves can induce forms of epileptic behavior in laboratory animals." He said the epileptic type reaction often is the underlying cause of crimes of violence.

"People working under noisy conditions require more energy to perform their tasks, and they have an increased error factor," he said.

Cuban Rebels Put Torch To $2,500,000 Of Sugar

HAVANA, Cuba (U)—Soldiers of rebel leader Fidel Castro, putting the torch to sugar cane fields and tobacco warehouses in an attempt to bring down President Fulgencio Batista, were estimated today to have burned crops worth nearly 2½ million dollars.

So far the dent in Cuba's economy was negligible. Qualified sources said the rebels had fired about a third of 1 per cent of Cuba's 3,200,000 acres of cane.

Castro's band of about 600 guerrillas and their supporters reportedly had started 54 big fires in the last four days. All centered around approaches to the rebel leaders' hideout in the Sierra Maestra Mountains of easternmost Oriente province.

Other fires have been set in the western province of Pinar del Rio, sources said, and more than 50 tobacco warehouses have been burned there.

Cane field workers in Oriente made no attempt to extinguish blazes after one field foreman who had tried to fight a fire was reported shot and killed by Cuban troops. Troops killed three rebels and wounded two who were trying

New Terminal Approved At State Capital

ANNAPOLIS (U)—City Council has cleared the way for the Baltimore and Annapolis Railroad Co. to build a new bus terminal on North Taylor Ave. here.

It passed an ordinance including bus terminals as an authorized use in a retail business district. This will enable the B & A to build the new terminal opposite a supermarket at the intersection of Taylor Ave. and Roscoe C. Rowe Boulevard, an expressway spur leading into Annapolis from Baltimore and Washington.

Plans for construction of the terminal have not been announced. The old B & A Terminal has been torn down to make way for parking lot and heating plant to serve a new state office building being erected here.

Anne Arundel County Gets New Sport, Jai Alai

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS — Anne Arundel County had a new gambling sport called "jai alai" today before most of its residents even learned how to pronounce it.

The proposal became an accomplished fact so fast it left anti-gambling forces blinking. They planned to protest to County Commissioners tonight but there were doubts it would stop anything.

The first public knowledge that a group was seeking permission to operate a jai alai establishment with pari-mutuel betting came in news stories Tuesday afternoon.

At approximately the same time, Anne Arundel County Commissioners were giving their approval to the plan on a 5-2 vote. By late yesterday, 24 hours after the commissioners approved, a license had been issued to Auditoriums Inc. for $100,000 to build a sports arena and operate the game.

Jai alai (pronounced hi-li) is a fast Spanish sport similar to handball except that it is played with baskets on a much larger court. Bettors wager on individual players or teams and can win, place or show according to their scores. Jai alai is popular in Cuba and Mexico, but Florida is the only state in the United States where it is presently played.

Wilbur F. Dulin, local representative for Auditoriums Inc., said the firm plans to build a three million dollar arena in the Ft. Meade area near the Baltimore-Washington Expressway. It hopes to have the arena in operation by next November.

The group is headed by F. Joseph Donohue of Washington, manager of Sen. Estes Kefauver's 1956 campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Anne Arundel County officials were told the county should net $400,000 a year as its 5 per cent share of the betting take and a $100,000 annual licensing fee. That's $75,000 more than it takes in off all its pin ball, slot machine and other amusement licenses.

"This whole thing has been done in an underhanded way, trying to keep it from the public," the Rev. Charles F. Kirkley, president of the Anne Arundel County Ministerium, charged today.

"What can be done now that it has gone this far remains to be seen, but we're certainly going to let the commissioners know how we stand on it."

The Ministerium, a county association of ministers, went on record yesterday morning as "vigorously opposed" to the plans and planned to make its views known to commissioners at tonight's meeting. The county chapter of the United Church Women also planned to protest.

The Rev. Mr. Kirkley said William Woodfield, Gatesville seafood packer, would head up citizen and ministerial groups protesting the action.

State Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) was among those criticizing the commissioners for not holding a public hearing before taking final action.

"This matter came as a surprise to me," Phipps said. "I don't know anything about this jai alai proposal — in fact, I don't even know how to pronounce the name. (He pronounced it like it looks).

"I do think, however, that we have enough gambling in Anne Arundel County already and that the Board of County Commissioners acted rather hastily in this matter."

County Manager Edward R. Lonergan said the betting operation should provide "an excellent source of revenue for a county faced with the tremendous increase in population that confronts Anne Arundel."

He said real estate taxes had about reached their limit and the county was going to have to seek new revenue.

The Rev. Mr. Kirkley said of this: "We feel the evils attendant to an operation like this far outweigh what taxes would be coming to the county."

The commissioners acted under local laws approved in 1945 and 1947 by the Maryland Legislature. These acts empower the Anne Arundel board to authorize on its own any type of betting amusement so long as it does not involve animals.

The enabling act passed Tuesday will prevent erection of any other jai alai establishment in the county within 30 miles of the one to be established by Auditoriums Inc.

Motion Filed For New Trial In SRC Case

Commission Feels Jury Verdict Goes Against Evidence

The Maryland State Roads Commission has filed a motion for a new trial in Allegany County Circuit Court as the result of a verdict reached by a petit jury last week in connection with a land condemnation suit involving property along U. S. Route 220 south of Rawlings.

Following a two-day trial in the local court before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, the jury awarded $6,950 to William F. Fitzpatrick and Lelia B. Fitzpatrick, his wife, owners of the Rustic Inn.

The SRC had considered $2,250 as a fair value on the property and had deposited a check in that amount with the clerk of the court. The Commission had brought a condemnation suit for 9,227 square feet of the property needed for highway improvement work along U. S. Route 220 from Rawlings to McCool.

In the motion for a new trial the SRC gave a number of reasons. It contends the verdict was against the evidence, damages awarded are excessive, the court erred in its ruling on the evidence and in its instruction to the jury.

The motion was signed by C. Ferdinand Sybert, Attorney General of Maryland, Joseph D. Buscher and Robert S. Rothenhofer, special assistant attorneys general and William Walsh, special attorney.

Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the SRC, filed the motion against the Fitzpatricks.

Latin America Enjoys Progress

Latin America has enjoyed the highest rate of economic progress in the world in the last ten years, according to the Pan American Union.

Dr. Amos E. Taylor, director of the union's Department of Economic and Social Affairs, said that Latin America's rate of increase in the production of goods from 1946 to 1952 exceeded the annual per capita rate of growth of the United States in its era of greatest expansion.

The standard of living prevailing throughout Latin America could double if the current rate of industrial and economic growth continue for twenty-one years, he said.

BABY NEARS BIRTHDAY—Stephen Moore, who will be one year old Monday, bounces on the lap of his mother, Mrs. Ellen Moore of Wallsend, England, nearly a year after becoming famous as a "deep freeze baby" for the method of anesthesia administered his mother when he was born. Stephen was born while Mrs. Moore was recovering from injuries suffered after a log struck her after rolling from a passing truck. Mrs. Moore spent nearly six months in a coma and started to improve with Stephen's birth. Both are well as they approach Stephen's birthday. (AP Photofax)

Missionary Union Plans Tuesday Meet

The Western Association of Women's Missionary Union will meet Tuesday at the First Baptist Church.

The session will begin at 2 p.m. The speaker will be Miss Josephine Norwood, state secretary of the WMU. She will answer inquiries on the program for the coming year.

On Monday the Western Baptist Sunday School Association will meet at the Grace Baptist Church. Music by the church choir will be under direction of Miss Mary Robb.

Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor, will talk on "Standard of Excellence," and will point out goals to attain in the Sunday school program such as how they are graded, literature to be used, how to increase attendance and the controls of the church on Sunday Schools.

Representatives of all Sunday schools of the Western Baptist Association which embraces Allegany and Garrett counties are expected to attend.

On Tuesday night the Ruth Bible Class and the Matthew Robb Bible Class of Grace Baptist Church met in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The covered dish supper was served by members of the Ruth Bible Class. Dinner was cooked and provided by Earl D. Chaney. About 40 persons were present.

Junior Garden Club Plans Flower Show, Workshop

Plans were made for a flower show and a workshop of the Junior Garden Club at this week's meeting of the Garden Club of Cumberland at the Civic Club house.

Mrs. H. C. Griggs, Junior Garden Club chairman, announced the workshop will be held Wednesday, November 20, at Central YMCA at 3:30 p.m. Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger will demonstrate the making of Christmas decorations. Materials will be furnished for the workshop which will be under the direction of Mrs. Guy Bradour. The meeting will be open to members of the Junior Garden Club only.

Mrs. William Frailey, flower show chairman, said a Christmas greens show will be held on December 14 and 15 at the Historical Society Home on Washington Street. The theme of the show will be, "All Through the House," and will feature decorations for both indoors and outdoors. The show will be non-competitive and entries are limited to Garden Club members.

Jack Wagner, appearing through the courtesy of the Allied Florists Association of Cumberland, gave a talk and demonstration at Monday's meeting using Christmas decorations for the house as his subject.

He showed the members several ways for making displays for buffets, dining tables, mantles and doorways.

Mrs. Ward Jamison, membership chairman, introduced new members of the club. They are Hal D. Barber, Mrs. Henry Holzshu, Mrs. John Lower, Mrs. William Frailey, Mrs. William Eichner, Mrs. Duard Little, Mrs. Richard Killen, Mrs. E. P. Martz, Mrs. George M. Young, Mrs. Fred Warner, Mrs. Chauncey Sanner, Mrs. Arthur Evans, Mrs. Hammond Amick, Mrs. Myrtle Hurley and Mrs. Leland Ransom.

The next meeting of the club will be held December 9 at the Monday's meeting.

Argentina Tries Soybean Crop

Argentina is trying for the first time to grow soybeans as a commercial crop on a large scale, the Pan American Union reports. Some agricultural experts believe that the soybean crop may prove more profitable in time than cotton, wheat and corn in certain districts of the country. Argentine agronomists and soil specialists, trained in the United States, are analyzing soils and climatic conditions to determine the most suitable regions for soybean cultivation.

Civic Club house. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Gilbert Miller, president of the club, was in charge of the Monday's meeting.

Marsh Mountain Ski Slopes Being Readied

Snow-making equipment which has been ordered for use along the Marsh Mountain Ski Trail near Oakland in Garrett County is part of an improvement program which is expected to be completed in time for the opening of the ski season on December 1.

A number of improvements received approval Tuesday night during a meeting of the board of directors of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council which was held in the Town Council Room in Oakland.

Helmuth Heise, president of the council, said the purchase of the equipment for manufacturing man-made snow is a sizable investment.

There is good news for ice skaters this year. A three-quarter-acre dam is expected to be completed in a week or so and will provide facilities for the winter sport. Lights will be installed in the area for night skating.

The dam is being built under the supervision of the Soil Conservation Service and will be located just below the ski trail which is being widened and improved.

Lights will be installed along the trail, according to Mr. Heise, who announces that the warming hut will be enlarged. A new ski rental building and service shop are also among the improvements this year.

The ski trail, located on the northeast slope of Marsh Mountain, is about 2,000 feet in length. It is situated about 12 miles from Oakland off U. S. Route 219.

The council was so well satisfied with the initial ski season last year that it deemed it feasible to add the new improvements and snow-making equipment.

Lonnie Long and H. M. Heise are in charge of the supervisory work. Skiing enthusiasts from Baltimore, Washington, Cumberland, Morgantown, Pittsburgh, and surrounding communities are attracted to the Garrett County ski trail.

Businessmen of Oakland, Deep Creek Lake and throughout the county are backing the winter sports area in cooperation with the Board of County Commissioners. The State Travel Council of Maryland Department of Information, which assists in attracting tourist trade, is also backing the area.

Wholesalers May Obtain State Trees

A quantity of Christmas trees are available at Savage River State Forest and Swallow Falls Forest for purchase by wholesalers, according to William H. Johnson, district forester.

He said the minimum number of evergreen trees which will be sold to a purchaser is 25 and the man-made snow is a sizable investment.

Mr. Johnson said that some 1,400 Scotch pines, measuring three to six feet are available at Savage River while about 75 Scotch pine and about 25 red pine, measuring from four to six feet are available at Swallow Falls.

Interested persons are asked to contact Harland Uphole, of New Germany, superintendent of the state forest at Savage River and M. E. Martin Jr., Herrington Manor, superintendent at Swallow Falls.

The Christmas trees will be marked by forestry personnel and removed in a thinning operation to allow the other trees to develop properly.

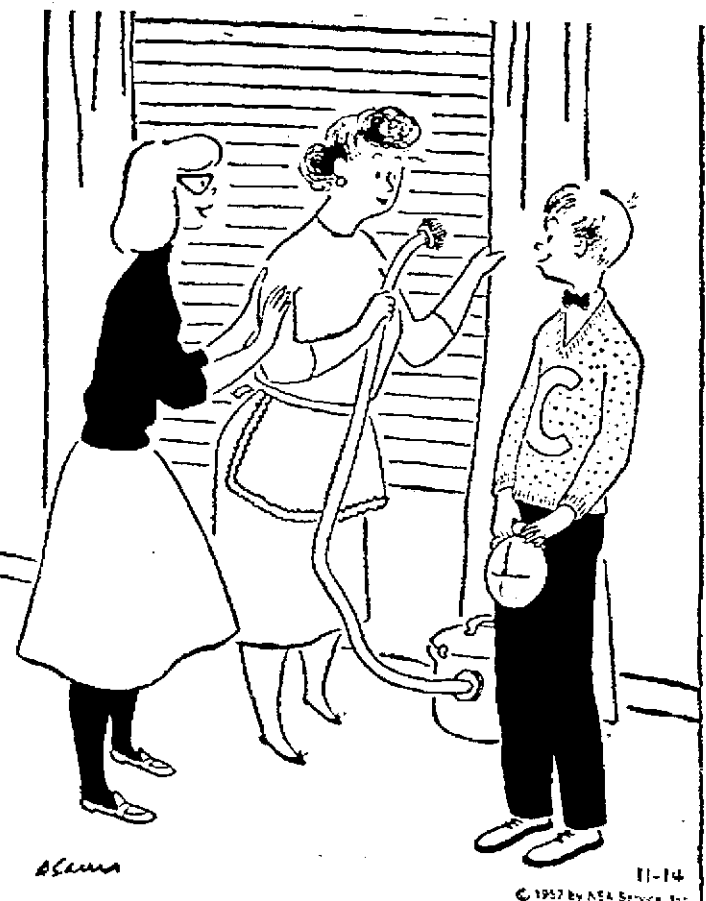

Mr. Johnson also said there are now several private growers of Christmas trees in Garrett County who produce evergreens as a crop. The district forester has contact with the growers.

Persons who are carrying on a reforestation program of idle land and whose plantations are closing are urged to thin out part of the trees. Foresters are available for consultation on a thinning out program and will also assist producers get a market for their trees.

Mr. Johnson pointed out yesterday that this year's crop of Christmas trees on state-owned land is probably the smallest since the past decade due to the discontinuance of planting during the war years. However an increase is expected in future years. Information, which assists in attracting tourist trade, is also backing the area.

Preston Man, Sister Die Within Hour

John W. Hershman, Miss Amy Hershman Said Victims Of Flu

A 69-year-old man died Tuesday night at his home in the Rowlesburg, W. Va., area, just an hour after his sister, at his residence. Medical reports list the cause of both deaths to influenza.

The deceased are John Wesley Hershman, a farmer in the Green Spring region near Rowlesburg, who died at 10 p. m. Tuesday, and his sister, Miss Amy Alberta Hershman, 61, who resided with her brother. Both had been ill for but brief periods.

Preston County authorities report a large number of influenza cases in that area, with both adults and school children being stricken with the illness. None of it has been diagnosed as the Asian variety, and the Hershman deaths are believed to be the first in the county attributed to the flu.

They were born at Elam, Preston County, W. Va., children of the late Clark and Emily (Chambers) Hershman. Miss Hershman held membership in Green Valley Methodist Church, while her brother was affiliated with Flag Chapel Methodist Church.

Both are survived by three sisters, Mrs. Louisa Martin, Tunnell, W. Va.; Mrs. Margie Schooley, Albright, W. Va.; and Mrs. Henrietta Myers, St. George, W. Va.

Mr. Hershman was preceded in death by his wife, the former Miss Etta M. Funk. Also surviving him are four sons, Frank Hershman, St. George; John H. Hershman, Tunnell; Charles Hershman, Rowlesburg; and Robert E. Hershman, Massillon, Ohio; three daughters, Mrs. Bertie Sigley, Rowlesburg; Mrs. Emily Peters, Unionport, Ohio; and Mrs. Mildred Henline, Tunnell; 24 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

The bodies are at the Hershman residence. Combined service will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Elam Chapel Methodist Church, with Rev. William A. Pyles officiating. Interment for Miss Hershman will be in Elam Cemetery, while her brother will be buried in Flag Chapel Cemetery.

Church Lists Projects For Area Youths

Two area youths have been assigned to projects by the Brethren Volunteer Service training unit at New Windsor. They are Darl Hinkle of Wiley Ford and Donald Judy, 133 E. Street, Keyser.

Hinkle has been assigned to a project at the National Institutes of Health at Bethesda where he will serve as an aide to normal control patients.

Judy has been assigned to a community service project at the Pilot House, Baltimore, where he will work with underprivileged children and assist with recreational programs in housing projects.

The Brethren Volunteer Service was inaugurated in 1948, and since that time more than 1,000 persons have undergone two-month training periods at New Windsor in preparation of assignment to various projects.

The individuals in the program, sponsored by the Church of the Brethren, spend one to two years on the projects to which they are assigned.

Police Probing More Entries

Hampshire County authorities today reported more breaking and enterings of cabins in the South Branch area are under investigation, one of the cabins being the property of a local man.

Sheriff M. R. Holt said the first report of the new breaking and enterings was noted by a Cumberland man who went to his cottage in the Blue Beach area in order to bring some of the possessions there back to his home.

Sheriff Molt and Trooper C. E. Dorsey of the Romney detachment of West Virginia State Police found two other cottages in the area had been broken into.

The cottages are located at the foot of the mountain on Route 28, the sheriff said. The owners are being contacted in order to determine if anything has been taken.

Two other cottages along the South Branch of the Potomac, in the Buffalo Hollow area, were broken into over the weekend, authorities said. The investigation is being continued.

Annual Duke Bible Class Dinner Friday

Past presidents of the Duke Memorial Bible Class will be honored at the annual dinner Friday at 6:30 p. m. in Central YMCA. Soloist will be Stanley Leasure, accompanied by Mrs. Norma Kirby.

The speaker will be John J. Hafer who will describe his European trip with the Times-News tour.

COMMANDER CONGRATULATED—Lt. Commander Paul M. Arbogast, center, commanding officer of Surface Division 5-9, local Naval Reserve unit, is shown being congratulated by Rear Admiral F. Massie Hughes, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, at last night's program at Allegany High School when the local unit was presented the James V. Forrestal trophy after qualifying as the best large USNR unit in the nation. Looking on is Assistant Secretary of the Navy Richard Jackson, who was the principal speaker at the award program. Grouped around the men are the awards won by Surface Division 5-9. The Forrestal trophy is at left front. Also shown is a Navy "E" pennant, an achievement shield from Admiral Hughes and the Fifth Naval District trophy, which was retired from competition since the local Surface Division won it for the third time.

Firm Honors 30 Employees For Service

The Celanese Corporation recently presented watches to 30 employees at the Anacostia plant in recognition of their each having completed 25 years of employment there.

The watches were presented to the employees by William E. Crooks, plant manager, while the section superintendents presented service emblems to their workers.

The employees, and the department where they work, are: Willard O. Althey, Top E. Barnes, Charles W. Cecil, Joseph J. Dorn, Edward C. Grabenstein, Walter F. Hymes, Irvin A. Lewis, Hubert A. Martz, Cletus H. Moyer, Ruby W. Pownall, Marshall M. VanMeter and Vincent P. Wigger, Extrusion Manufacturing.

Elmer E. Collins, Albert C. Horner, Eldon J. Robb, William A. Robey, Carl A. Skidmore and Earl C. Stemple, cellulose compounds manufacturing.

Camp Seeks Well Permit

Baltimore Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, has applied to the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources to drill for water at its camp in the eastern part of Allegany County.

A hearing will be held Thursday, November 21, at 11 a. m. in the department's office, Latrobe Hall, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

The council wants a permit to use a minimum of 3,000 gallons, a maximum of 5,000 gallons, and an average of 4,000 gallons of water daily during 12 months of the year.

The supply is to be from one or more wells having a diameter of six inches and depths of about 200 to 300 feet. They will be located at Camp Lillie-Aaron, which is south of the Frank Ziegler property and about three miles south of Piney Grove.

Phone Workers Get Pay Increase

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — A new contract calling for basic wage increases ranging from $2 to $5 a week for 4,700 non-supervisory employees of Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of West Virginia was in effect today.

The agreement between the company and the Communications Workers of America was signed last night. An old 12-month contract expired last midnight.

C. H. Johnson, vice president of the company, said the new contract was necessary to "bring our employees' wage levels into a comparative position with those paid in other industries for work requiring related skills."

Schindler Attends Planning Meeting

Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, will attend the dinner meeting of the Maryland State Bar Association Committee on Continuing Legal Education, tonight at the Southern Hotel in Baltimore.

Schindler is a member of the committee representing Western Maryland. Plans will be made for the legal education course to be held Friday, January 25, in Baltimore prior to the meeting of the State Bar Association on January 26.

Jury Hears Evidence In Appeal Of Injured Man

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury spent all morning today hearing evidence in an appeal filed by an injured coal miner from a decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission.

The issue was over the amount of permanent and total disability suffered by William H. Thomas, 61-year-old Gilmore man, when he was pinned between a loaded coal car and the floor of the Russell Coal Company Mine near Lonaconing.

In testimony presented before the Industrial Accident Commission and reviewed before the jury today, the amount of Thomas' disability was judged to be from 20 per cent to 85 per cent.

Started When 16

The accident commission had ruled Thomas to be 50 per cent permanently and totally disabled. Thomas testified today that he entered coal mines at the age of 16 and for 45 years until his injury April 3, 1956, had earned his living as a miner.

He said he was injured when a loaded coal car jumped the track. He placed a jack under it to put it back on the rails, but the jack slipped.

The coal car knocked him down to a stooping position between the car and the rock floor, he added. A fellow worker helped extricate him, and then took him home.

Went To Hospital

He testified today that he was admitted to a local hospital upon reference of a Lonaconing physician four days after the injury.

After 11 days hospitalization, he subsequently was given a brace to wear on his back. In August, 1956, a Cumberland doctor, to whom he had been referred, discharged him as a patient, saying maximum treatment had been given him, Thomas declared.

Thomas stated he no longer could work in his garden, carry in coal or wood for the furnace and stove, or perform any of the other household chores he formerly handled.

Physicians Testify

One physician called as a witness said he had examined Thomas and said he was unable to earn a living in any laboring jobs.

He judged him to be from 80 to 85 per cent permanently and totally disabled.

Another physician testified that Thomas would have been as good as ever, if he had followed his three recommendations in August, 1956,—do certain exercises, take prescribed medication and wear the brace.

A third doctor who was involved in the case was to testify later today.

At noon, the case had not gone to the jury.

Edward J. Ryan is representing Thomas and Thomas B. Finan is counsel for Robert A. Russell, the employer, and the State Accident Fund.

Boys Nabbed After Stolen Auto Chase

Two young boys, 12 and 13 years of age, were given hearings this morning in Juvenile Court after being picked up last night in a stolen car.

Juvenile Magistrate Fred H. Anderson deferred sentencing the young pair, with one of the boys being released in the custody of his parents, and the other returned to the detention quarters at the County Infirmary.

The boys were nabbed by police after a chase by State and City Police which ended when the 12-year-old boy struck a telephone pole and sideswiped the State Police car in an apparent attempt to avoid a road block.

The youths took a 1953-model car that had been left at the curb in front of a car sales firm on Bedford Street with the motor running. They reportedly drove to Flintstone and were sighted by Tfc. John Browning when they were driving back to the city.

The chase on Bedford Street was sighted by Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney and Officer Gordon Hite, who radioed for a road block. Officer Kenneth Morrissey used his car to block Bedford Street at Decatur, and the young driver struck a telephone pole as he attempted to turn into Decatur. He brushed against the State Police car as the two vehicles came abreast.

Damage was minor and no one was hurt, police said.

Police Investigating Entry Of Concession

City Police this morning were informed the concession stand at Fort Hill Stadium had been broken into sometime during the night.

Discovery of the breaking and entering was made at about 8 a. m. today by a school janitor who called authorities. A preliminary investigation showed a box of candy and five chocolate bars were missing. Detective Joseph Sticher is investigating.

Man Collapses

An 85-year-old man, identified as D. Smith of Frederick Street, collapsed this morning at the intersection of Baltimore and George Street. He was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital by police ambulance.

Armed Might Deterrent To Soviet Union

Jackson Points To U. S. Inventiveness At Awards Program

The leadership of the United States and its allies in most aspects of weapons development is the major reason why the Soviet Union has been kept within bounds, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Richard Jackson said here last night.

The statement was made in a talk at Allegany High School that was one of the highlights of a program during which Surface Division 5-9, local Naval Reserve unit, was presented the James V. Forrestal trophy.

The trophy is annually presented to the top-rated large division unit in the nation.

Sea Power Cited

Russia's development of the two Sputniks, Jackson stated, is evidence of great ability in scientific brain power and industrial organization.

Russia, he added, has also recognized the importance of sea power and has risen from ninth to second place among the navies of the world.

Her arrogance has also been restrained, he said "because our forces are deployed and poised to strike if trouble should be started by the USSR or its satellites."

The United States, he said, intends to continue to lead in the development of weapons.

Work has commenced, he told members of the Naval Reserve division, in the country's first nuclear-powered carrier which, with aircraft and missiles, "gives us what in effect are intercontinental missiles" launched from moving platforms, which will be hard to find and attack.

Must Meet Challenge

"We sometimes forget," he said, "that our plenty comes from the inventive genius and the genius for organization which has characterized our people."

America "cannot keep that plenty" to say nothing of the peace — unless we continue to invent and organize effectively in the future.

If the United States is to continue as leader of the free world, he said, all must be willing to meet the challenge of hard and sustained work called for to master the complexities of modern technology.

Jackson reported the Navy party spent the afternoon visiting historic sites of the area and inspecting activities in Allegany Ballistics Laboratory which contributes "most importantly to the Navy and to our National Defense effort."

He congratulated officers and men of Surface Division 5-9 and presented the James Forrestal trophy to Lt. Commander Paul M. Arbogast, commanding officer.

A resident of Massachusetts, Jackson was appointed recently as Assistant Secretary of the Navy in charge of personnel and reserve forces.

He was introduced by Rear Admiral F. Massie Hughes, commandant of the Fifth Naval District.

Second Line Defense

The Naval Reserve and the Naval Air Reserve, Admiral Hughes said, constitute the Navy's "second line of defense."

The work of Surface Division 5-9 not only brought it the Forrestal award but contributed toward enabling the Fifth District to stand first among 10 Naval districts, he said.

The Navy's traditional "Well done!" was accorded to the Cumberland unit by the Navy official as he presented Lt. Cmdr. Arbogast an achievement shield from the commander, a "Navy E" flag and the Fifth Naval District Trophy, which will become a permanent award since it has been won three times by the Cumberland division.

City Gets First Of New Type Traffic Kiosk

The first of a new type of kiosk from which City Police will operate the traffic lights has been erected at the Baltimore and George Street intersection.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said the new booth is much more compact than the one still in operation at the Centre Street corner, with the result that more space will be available at corners for pedestrians.

The new kiosk does not enclose the traffic pole on which the light control mechanism is placed, but instead only encloses a portion of the control box, thereby cutting down the overall dimensions.

The kiosk at the Mechanic Street intersection, which was demolished by an automobile in a recent early-morning accident, will be replaced by one of the new type, Chief Flynn stated, as will the one at Centre Street.

Membership Check Starts At St. Mark's

Pastor Explains Various Purposes Of Current Program

The annual canvass of the membership of St. Mark's United Church of Christ is being undertaken, according to Rev. Carl Clapp, pastor.

Sunday afternoon the first contacts were made by the teams of two visitors each, and at a dinner later the reports were made.

Rev. Mr. Clapp said the purpose of the canvass, termed the Kingdom Roll Call, is to unite the church more closely in fellowship to solicit the help of all members in the overall program to secure an accurate and up-to-date record of all members' addresses, and to submit a check list to each parishioner.

The results will help in distributing the work of the church, he added.

Families not visited Sunday due to absence, illness or other reasons will be contacted as soon as possible, he said.

Co-chairmen of the canvass are Mrs. Lora Pyles and Mrs. Martha Werner.

Visitors and workers are Mrs. J. M. Miller, Miss Irene Lapp, Miss Danny Browne, Mrs. Celia Smith, Mrs. Myrtle Brode, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Stein, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kalbaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. William Underdunk, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Collins, Mr. and Mrs. George Ready, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wenner, Robert Moore, Raymond Harlock, Carl Smith and Mrs. Arnold Ballard.

Mrs. Mable Miller, Miss Peggy Baker, Mrs. Agnes Hersh, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bittner, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wrathford, Mr. and Mrs. G. Albert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stouffer, Edward Jenkins, Robert McMillan and William Hersh.

City League Opens Parley In Baltimore

BALTIMORE — Problems vital to municipal operations — from taxes to sewers — occupied delegates to the 10th annual convention of the Maryland League of Municipalities opening here today.

Urban renewal also will be discussed by the city officials from all sections of Maryland at the three-day session which ends Saturday.

Mayor Roy W. Eves of Cumberland, president of the league, will open today's session and Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro of Baltimore will welcome the delegates.

Taxes take the floor at 2:15 p. m. when the Northrup Committee reports on its study of taxation and fiscal affairs.

Mayor Russell P. Smith Jr. of Cambridge will lead a panel discussion on urban renewal at 3 p. m., and some of Baltimore's renewal projects will be visited later in the day.

Sewers and sewage treatment are listed on the program for tomorrow. The annual banquet is set for tomorrow night and the election of officers comes Saturday.

Play Will Mark Founding First Baptist Church

A play commemorating the establishment of First Baptist Church in Cumberland will be presented at 10 a. m. Thursday, November 28, according to Rev. A. C. Prevatt, pastor.

The Thanksgiving morning production will be in the form of a series of tableaux which will show scenes from the history of the church. Rev. Mr. Prevatt said the program will close with a roll call of members during the 110-year history of the church.

An anniversary hymn has been composed for the play by Mrs. Edwin W. Saylor.

Wild Disorder Reported In Tax Program

Drastic Revision Proposed For State Personal Property

BALTIMORE — Back in 1913 the Baker Commission found some wild discrepancies in Maryland's personal property taxes, such as only one county taxing chickens and another not taxing cars at all.

Today, the chickens and cars have given way to bicycles and Siamese cats but another study group finds administration of those same taxes in "wild disorder."

A committee of the Legislative Council, making a study authorized by the 1956 General Assembly, has recommended "a careful but drastic revision of our outmoded system of taxing personal property."

Council Gets Report

The Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters yesterday mailed a 70-page report drafted by Del. Blair Lee III (D-Montgomery) to members of the Council, between sessions arm of the Legislature.

The first step recommended would eliminate "an inconsequential variety of odds and ends" being taxed, which the committee said included "a boy's bicycle, jewelry not habitually worn... and a Siamese cat."

The report said one of the biggest problems in recent years has been the "very sizable exemptions" granted, varying from county to county. It cited one hypothetical case.

County A has exempted 10 million dollars worth of manufacturing machinery and inventory from its tax rate of $1.62 per $100 value. The report said the county has deprived itself of $162,000 in county revenue "but it has enabled itself to advertise far and wide that 'industry gets a break' in dear old County A."

Some Tax Furniture

County A also "relieves $81,000 in additional state aid" (which it wouldn't have received without the exemption), the report said.

The committee said the personal property tax has, for the most part, degenerated into an inconsistent tax on business which also includes "scattered remnants of the old household furniture tax in four counties" — Cecil, Dorchester, Frederick and Queen Anne's.

For the 1958 legislative session which convenes in February, the committee said it was recommending only "a sort of cutting away of underbrush" — specifying in law the personal property which already is being taxed in fact.

"Such an amendment," it said, "would make honest men and women out of a lot of otherwise honest taxpayers."

On a longer range basis the committee suggested a number of possible reforms:

A gross profits tax; a "turn-over" tax based on classified gross receipts; a business privilege license fee measured by net income, or a simplified personal property classification system, similar to one used in Ohio.

More Time Needed

As to why no major revision should be attempted next year, the committee had some reasons:

1. "More time is needed for study of the proposed replacement taxes, especially by the business interests who are so directly involved."

2. "The revision may very well involve repeal or amendment of local laws beyond the limits permitted by the constitution for the 30-day 'short' sessions."

3. "Even if agreement as to the replacement tax were reached in advance, 30 days would be insufficient time to give such complicated legislation the attention that it deserves."

Maryland's personal property was assessed at a valuation of about 1 1/2 billion dollars in 1956. The committee report noted a "conscious and briefly successful effort to remedy" the tax inequities but when counties protested it "reversed its field" in 1954.

Del. Lee's report said the committee, "with the pedagogic uprising of 1953-54 still a painful memory to many legislators

Man Guilty Of Claiming To Be FBI Agent

Judge Delays Making Sentence Pending Probation Report

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 33-year-old Elkton, Md. man was convicted by a Federal Court jury yesterday of detaining a Delaware woman while posing as an FBI agent.

Judge R. Dorsey Watkins postponed sentencing of George C. Potts Jr. pending receipt of a report from the Probation Department.

The judge said he agreed with the jury's verdict, but said he believed Potts' only motive in impersonating an FBI agent was to impress 35-year-old Mrs. Roberta Gates.

Potts testified he was helping a woman in distress when he picked up Mrs. Gates and drove her from Elkton to her apartment in Newark, Del., last September. He contended he befriended Mrs. Gates at an Elkton gas station after she had an argument with a companion.

Mrs. Gates, Irish wife of an Army sergeant stationed overseas, testified she was ordered into the car by Potts. She said he claimed to be an FBI agent and that her companion's car was wanted by police.

Under cross examination, Mrs. Gates denied having an argument with her companion, or had asked Potts to drive her to a police station or to her home. She said Potts attempted to molest her in her apartment, where she claimed she was detained for several hours.

Small Firms' Hearing Set

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will be represented at a hearing planned in Baltimore next Tuesday on proposals for establishing the Maryland Business Development Corporation.

Senators Louis L. Goldstein and Harry T. Phoebe, named as a subcommittee by the Legislative Council to study the proposal, will conduct the hearing in City Hall, Baltimore, November 19 at 7:30 p. m.

Representing the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce will be Charles S. Catherman Jr., president; Joseph M. Naughton, chairman of the industrial promotion committee, and Thomas W. Morris, director of industrial promotion.

The purpose of the corporation would be to lend money to small businesses which at present are unable to obtain necessary funds from existing sources.

Seventeen states, the Chamber said, have established similar organizations to help small businesses get started.

Man Indicted For Bank Holdup

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — A Harrison County grand jury returned yesterday an armed robbery indictment against Winford C. Starkey, 29-year-old ex-convict accused of holding up a bank at nearby Lost Creek.

The bandit was caught minutes after he allegedly held up the Harrison County Bank for $3,253, had accomplices. But he has continued to maintain that he staged the robbery alone.

Two persons reported to State Police that they saw an old-model car speed away about the time the bank burglar alarm sounded. A car which might have been the one the witnesses described was found abandoned at a strip mine 12 miles north of Lost Creek yesterday.

Group Named For Observance

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has named a Maryland committee to cooperate with the National Theodore Roosevelt Centennial Commission in observing the centenary year of the former President's birth.

In naming the committee, McKeldin said he sought men and women who either were active in one or more of Roosevelt's campaigns or are close relatives of persons who were.

Named chairman of the group, which is represented by Baltimore City and all 23 counties, was Walter N. Ruth of Baltimore. McKeldin said Ruth was among the most active Theodore Roosevelt workers in the state.

University To Fire Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—University of Maryland physicists expect to fire 40 more Oriole rockets within the next two weeks from a Navy ship off the Virginia Capes.

Dr. S. Fred Singer, rocket and missile expert, made the announcement here yesterday. Three of the rockets were fired last week to an altitude of about 95 miles.

The Oriole has an instrumented head which takes readings of outer atmosphere conditions including winds, temperatures and cosmic and solar radiation.

Baltimore Interests Oppose Bridge Plan

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore port interests are opposing plans to build a bridge-tunnel across the mouth of Chesapeake Bay between Cape Charles and Norfolk, Va.

In a resolution yesterday, the Steamship Trade Assn. of Baltimore Inc. reiterated its opposition to any bridge over the Baltimore ship channel at Hampton Roads.

Son Will Replace Father On Board

MARTISBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Lyle W. Noll, 38, has been named to replace his late father, Obed, on the Berkeley County Court.

He was chosen by the other two commissioners, William Reid and Ernest C. Alther Sr. Noll will serve until next November when the post will be filled by election.

Squash Pie Top Holiday Offering

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

For an old-fashioned Thanksgiving offering, you might like to make one of your holiday pies of squash. For this recipe, we steam butternut squash, combine it with crushed pineapple and spices and turn it into a deep dish. A top crust of rich French pie pastry is arranged over the top, and leaves of the pastry—cut out with a pastry wheel—further embellish it.

Deep-Dish Squash Pie

Ingredients: 2 medium-sized (2 1/2 pounds) butternut squash, 1 cup light brown sugar (firmly packed), 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple, grated rind and juice of 1/2 lemon, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, French Pie Pastry.

Method: Cut the squash into halves and discard seeds; pare off skin with a swivel-blade vegetable, or to taste. Place squash in a perforated basket (or colander) in a kettle over gently bubbling water (to create steam); cover kettle and steam until just about tender—about 30 minutes. Remove squash, and slice about 3/4-inch thick, then dice into pieces that are about 3/4-inch long. Butter a baking dish—a heat-resistant glass dish that is 8 1/2 by 8 1/2 by 2 inches (holding 2 quarts) is fine. Mix brown sugar, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg; drain pineapple (there should be 1/2 cup juice) and add the drained pineapple plus 1/4 cup of the pineapple juice, the grated lemon rind and lemon juice to the sugar mixture. Arrange squash in layers in baking dish, sprinkling each layer with the pineapple mixture. Dot with butter. Roll out French Pie Pastry so that it is about 1/8-inch thick and about 1 1/2 inches larger than the diameter of the baking dish. Arrange pastry lightly over squash and trim edges, leaving 1/2-inch overhanging. Moisten rim of dish, turn overhanging edge of pastry under and press it onto rim. Flute or crimp edges and cut ample slits in pastry for steam to escape. Cut leaves, with a pastry wheel, from leftover pastry and arrange decoratively around edge of crust. Bake in a hot (400 degree) oven for 50 minutes.

French Pie Pastry
Ingredients: 2 1/4 cups sifted flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup golden shortening, 2 egg yolks, 3 tablespoons water.

Method: Stir flour, sugar and salt together in a mixing bowl. Add golden shortening and egg yolks; cut in with a pastry blender until fat particles are fine. Sprinkle water, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture; toss lightly with a fork until all flour is moistened. Gather dough into a ball and roll out on prepared pastry cloth. Use as directed in recipe for Deep-Dish Squash Pie. If any pastry is left over, it's fine to use for small turnovers with a filling of sugar, spices and nuts.

Brazil Nuts Give Stuffing Flavor

Brazil Nut Stuffing

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 1/2 cups diced celery with leaves
1 8-ounce package prepared stuffing
1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup stock or water, optional

Melt butter in skillet; add Brazil nuts, onion and celery. Cook over medium heat until onion and celery are tender. Turn into large mixing bowl; stir in stuffing, poultry season and cooked rice. Mix together lightly with a fork. For moist stuffing add stock or water.

Yield: Stuffing for a 12-pound turkey or 2 6-pound turkeys, using 3/4 cup stuffing per pound dressed weight.

Note: If desired, stuffing may be baked separately to serve with chicken, veal or beef. Place stuffing in foil; seal edges tightly. Bake in a moderate oven (350-375 degrees F.) 35 minutes, or in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 45 minutes.

Chicken Broth Basis For Soup

For a delicious soup for cold weather, try serving this one made from chicken broth, rice and carrots.

Put in a saucepan 1 can of concentrated chicken broth and 1 can of water. Add 4 good-sized carrots and 4 onions, chopped. Add 1/4 teaspoon of each of sugar and salt and 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf thyme (somewhat less if you use powdered). Add 1/4 cup of raw rice and simmer for an hour.

At the end of that time, press all ingredients through a sieve to make a puree, stir in a pat of butter, add a dash of nutmeg and correct seasonings. Serve with croutons of bread fried in butter or, if you like, fried in oil in which a clove of garlic has been browned.

Pork, Chuck Roast Get Food Store Top Billing

By The Associated Press

Housewives searching for a bargain this weekend are likely to find pork is the solution to their problem.

Pork loin and pork butt are the cuts most frequently featured, with the former priced at 27 cents a pound for the rib end and 37 cents a pound for the loin end in the New York metropolitan area.

Beef also will be a No. 1 item in many stores. Chuck roast and chopped beef are more frequently mentioned than the more expensive cuts.

Fryers, Eggs Higher
Fryers are more expensive this week in some areas, although fowl are featured elsewhere. Eggs are higher by 2 to 4 cents a pound.

Vegetables on the outstanding buy list are chicory, escarole, cabbage, potatoes and onions. Cabbage is reported a shade higher in price, but still a best buy because it's been so low all along. Radishes in cellophane bags all so are a prime bargain.

Cauliflower, though higher, is still rated a good buy by produce men. Broccoli is on the high side of a good buy, but other bargains can be found among Idaho potatoes, eggplant, snap beans, topped carrots, pascal celery, brussels sprouts and sweet potatoes. Spinach is a good buy where it's available from nearby fields.

Lemon Flavors Skillet Souffle

Dress up your souffle with fresh tangy lemon. You'll enjoy its delightful flavor and refreshing goodness.

Lemon Skillet Souffle

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/4 cup sugar
4 egg yolks
3/4 cup fresh lemon juice
grated peel of 1 lemon
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
2 tablespoons chopped nuts
1 tablespoon shortening
Cream butter or margarine, beat in sugar. Beat in egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add lemon juice and peel. Fold in egg whites. Melt shortening in 10-inch skillet; pour in mixture; cook 10 minutes over medium heat. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) 30 minutes or until brown. Makes 4 generous servings.

Add a little tomato catchup and curry powder to a cream sauce for cooked shrimp. Serve over crisp toast.

Anchovy Celery Dip

A real party hit, an appetizer that's a conversation piece, anchovy celery dip is something different. Combine a couple of minced cloves of garlic with a small can of drained chopped anchovy fillets, a little of the anchovy cheese, until the flavors are cream cheese, and a bit of lemon juice. Chill until the flavors are well blended. Serve with 2-inch celery sticks.

New Scrapple Very Different

MEAT MUSH: Sausage scrapple is a far cry from the Pennsylvania Dutch original but served with syrup and baked apples, it draws few complaints.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associate Press Food Editor
Scrapple became a delicious part of the American cuisine when, years ago, Pennsylvania Dutch farmers first started putting this hearty dish together at butchering time.

Scraps of meat, liver and other internal organs were cooked in water—so as to utilize them—and then both broth and meat were combined with buckwheat flour plus cornmeal to make a sage-seasoned mixture. The meat-enriched mush was turned into a bread pan and chilled, then unmolded and sliced thin; finally it was fried until lightly browned and crisp.

Nowadays, although cornmeal scrapple is available in many food markets, some homemakers make versions of it in their own kitchens. This recipe is a far cry from the original, but we think it's attractive and delicious.

Some Sunday morning serve crisp slices of this scrapple with maple syrup, baked apples and good hot coffee—and you'll probably have no complaints!

You'll notice that in this recipe, less water is used to cook the cornmeal than in a regular "breakfast mush" recipe. There's a reason for this. Although Miss Fannie Farmer did not see fit to include a recipe for scrapple in the first edition of her famous cook book, she does say, "Where mushes are cooked to fry, use less water in steaming." That succinct advice was given in the first (1896) edition of The Boston Cooking-School Cook Book but it still holds good today!

Sausage Scrapple
Ingredients: 1 pound pork sausage links, 4 cups water, 1½ cups yellow cornmeal, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 cups cold water.

Method: Pan-fry pork sausage links, in 10 to 12-inch skillet, according to package directions. In a 3-quart kettle, heat 4 cups water to boiling. Stir cornmeal, salt and 2 cups cold water together until smooth; pour into boiling water, stirring constantly. Stirring often, cook until thickened. Cover; continue cooking over low heat for 10 minutes or until very thick, stirring occasionally. Turn about 1½ cups of the mush into a loaf pan (about 5 by 9 by 3 inches). Arrange half of the cooked sausage links lengthwise over mush. Turn another 1½ cups of the mush over the sausage.

Repeat sausage layer and pour remainder of mush over top. Chill. To serve, cut into ½-inch slices. Fry on lightly greased griddle or skillet until golden brown. Serve with maple syrup. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Save out a couple of tablespoons of condensed tomato soup, before you dilute it, and add it to a beef stew. Helps give good flavor!

Franks Fixed Dutch Style

Sliced frankfurters are browned with potato slices and then cooked with carefully seasoned, slightly beaten eggs.

Dutch Style Scrambled Frankfurters
½ cup bacon drippings
1 medium onion, sliced
1 boiled medium potato, sliced
6 frankfurters, sliced ½ inch thick
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper

¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
8 eggs, slightly beaten
Cook onion until brown in hot fat. Push onion to side of skillet and add potato and frankfurter slices. Cook until light brown. Add salt, pepper and green pepper to eggs; pour over mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until eggs are thickened but still moist.
Six servings.

For a really creamy custard, use egg yolks rather than whole eggs. Two egg yolks are usually substituted for one whole egg.

Marinate Beef, Lamb

Try marinating those chunks of beef or lamb for broiling on skewers in a mixture of red wine vinegar, olive oil and plenty of fresh dill.

When you are buying a waste basket for your kitchen, look for one that has no grooves, so cleaning will be easy.

Delicious Pie

Topping Suggested

Wonderful to swirl on top individual baked and cooled frozen fruit pies is this "frosting." Just blend a little orange juice (about 1 tablespoonful) with a 3-ounce package of softened cream cheese; add 1 teaspoon of grated orange rind.

Soup Trick

Sprinkle a few tablespoons finely chopped celery into hot cream of tomato soup to give a new crunchy flavor to an all-time favorite.

Try using orange juice instead of water when you are baking apples; add a little of the grated orange rind, too.

Buffet Is Ideal For Big Meal

BIRD OF THE DAY: A rich brown turkey can form the centerpiece for a Thanksgiving dinner buffet. It's ideal when there are many guests and no outside help.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

After giving many Thanksgiving dinners, there is one serving procedure we can recommend if the menu is to be a traditional one.

When there is a large family plus guests, and no outside help, we find that using a combination buffet and sit-down service is convenient.

For this we set places around the dining table (extended, of course) and arrange the centerpiece. In our house this is always a blue milk-glass compote of fresh fruit that never fails to include persimmons and grapes; the compote is surrounded by blue milk-glass egg cups—small ends up—holding tall tapers. On the table, too, go matching blue dishes of cranberry sauce and other relishes, trays of crisp hard rolls and butter pats.

The main course is served from a separate buffet. This means that the bird—after his rich brown glory has been properly admired—is carved and arranged on an electric platter. The stuffing is spooned into a chafing dish to keep hot and the vegetables are served in covered dishes.

Everyone goes to the buffet, helps himself and then sits down at the large table on which there are place cards. One member of the family usually takes it on himself to look after those who want second helpings. Another member of the family eventually clears away the main-course dishes and brings on the dessert, which is cut and served at the table.

As part of this plan, we serve our first course in the living room, whether it is a before-dinner drink and hors d'oeuvre or soup or both. Then glasses and plates are cleared away before we all enjoy the bird and trimmings.

Turkey Talk
If you use a bread stuffing, we can't over-emphasize the importance of packing it into the bird lightly. This way the dressing has its best chance to taste fluffy and delicious. Any of the stuffing that won't fit into body and neck cavities may be baked in a separate dish and moistened with turkey gravy. Stuff your bird just before roasting. Allow two to four hours for cooking the turkey giblets. Cover them with water and add salt, peppercorns, celery tops, a

Pretty Dish, Eggs Creole

Eggs Creole is as pretty a main dish as one can see, and as tasty as one can be.

The recipe, from the Department of Agriculture, uses that winning combination of plentiful foods—eggs and rice.

For six servings, use:
1 1/2 cups chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons cooking fat or oil

2 1/2 cups tomatoes
2 cups water
1 cup uncooked rice
Salt and pepper
6 eggs

Lightly brown the onion and green pepper in the fat or oil. Pour in tomatoes and water; bring to boiling. Add the rice and cook slowly until rice is tender (25 to 30 minutes). Add more water if rice becomes dry. Season with salt and pepper.

Drop in the whole eggs, broken out of shell, cover, and simmer about 10 minutes or until eggs are firm. (If preferred—instead of the poached eggs—quarter 6 hard-cooked eggs and serve on top of the creole rice.)

Calypso Is New Flavor For Sodas

Suggestive of the islands of the Caribbean is the flavor combination of coffee and molasses, destined to wow the Calypso set.

For each soda use a scoop of coffee ice cream, always conveniently handy in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Add two tablespoons of unrefined molasses, 1/2 cup of milk and fill the glass with carbonated water.

Anchovy Steak Sauce

Try adding minced parsley and over low heat, add 1 cup of anchovy fillets to a sauce for chicken stock.

Helpful Hints

Add cooked noodles to a white sauce seasoned with Worcestershire sauce; turn into a casserole, sprinkle with grated cheese and oven-bake.

Enliven chicken salad with seedless grapes, salted almonds, water chestnuts or diced cucumbers.

Cook a package of frozen green lima beans, drain and cool. Mix with thin celery crescents and salad dressing. Serve on crisp greens.

After giving many Thanksgiving dinners, there is one serving procedure we can recommend if the menu is to be a traditional one.

When there is a large family plus guests, and no outside help, we find that using a combination buffet and sit-down service is convenient.

For this we set places around the dining table (extended, of course) and arrange the centerpiece. In our house this is always a blue milk-glass compote of fresh fruit that never fails to include persimmons and grapes; the compote is surrounded by blue milk-glass egg cups—small ends up—holding tall tapers. On the table, too, go matching blue dishes of cranberry sauce and other relishes, trays of crisp hard rolls and butter pats.

The main course is served from a separate buffet. This means that the bird—after his rich brown glory has been properly admired—is carved and arranged on an electric platter. The stuffing is spooned into a chafing dish to keep hot and the vegetables are served in covered dishes.

Everyone goes to the buffet, helps himself and then sits down at the large table on which there are place cards. One member of the family usually takes it on himself to look after those who want second helpings. Another member of the family eventually clears away the main-course dishes and brings on the dessert, which is cut and served at the table.

Pretty Dish, Eggs Creole

Eggs Creole is as pretty a main dish as one can see, and as tasty as one can be.

The recipe, from the Department of Agriculture, uses that winning combination of plentiful foods—eggs and rice.

For six servings, use:
1 1/2 cups chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons cooking fat or oil

2 1/2 cups tomatoes
2 cups water
1 cup uncooked rice
Salt and pepper
6 eggs

Lightly brown the onion and green pepper in the fat or oil. Pour in tomatoes and water; bring to boiling. Add the rice and cook slowly until rice is tender (25 to 30 minutes). Add more water if rice becomes dry. Season with salt and pepper.

Drop in the whole eggs, broken out of shell, cover, and simmer about 10 minutes or until eggs are firm. (If preferred—instead of the poached eggs—quarter 6 hard-cooked eggs and serve on top of the creole rice.)

Ladies Team Works On CUF Final Push

KEYSER — A women's team at work finishing off the job of meeting the $29,000 goal of the Keyser chapter of the County United Fund which, after getting a late start, will wind up its solicitations tomorrow, according to Earl K. Hess, campaign chairman.

Mrs. Ray C. Coffman is chairman of the group that is canvassing all the potential givers not reached by the Golden Gifts, Classified and Business divisions. Assisting her are Mrs. James H. Swadley Jr., Mrs. Edgell L. Grayson, Mrs. Harland Ridder, Mrs. Blake Oss, Mrs. Roy Davidson and Mrs. Michael E. Welsh.

"All workers are to complete their calls and make final reports to their respective chairmen by tomorrow evening," Hess said. "The final goal is in sight."

"Anybody in the Keyser area who has not been contacted and wants to become a part of the community venture, Hess added, "can make a contribution by contacting Warner Lowery, Potomac Light and Power Company; Carl Ludwick, Ludwick Chevrolet; Harland Ridder, Ridder's Garage; Mrs. Ray Coffman, Carskadon Road or himself, Carskadon Road.

Legion Post Plans Drive

MOOREFIELD — The annual membership drive kickoff dinner will be held by John M. Golliday Post, American Legion, Sunday, according to an announcement of Commander Norman Wolfe.

The current membership of the Moorefield post is 300. Speaking at the dinner, which will be held at 4 p. m. following a post meeting at 2, will be Tenth District Commander Courtney Pratt. Wolfe will also speak briefly.

All members of the John M. Golliday Post are requested to attend the annual kickoff dinner.

To Erect Lights
The local squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will erect street lights and Christmas decorations again this year, Squadron Commander William C. Goetz said.

Strings of lights are to be repaired, and new strings will be made for merchants who want them.

The cadets plan to add a steel wire to the strands to add strength against the strain of weight and the elements. Permanent fasteners will be installed on buildings and poles. Goetz requests that merchants and business people interested in the decoration project get their orders placed immediately so the lights can all be installed immediately after Thanksgiving.

Nominations Accepted For Top Citizen

KEYSER — Local citizens are reminded that this is the last week for nominating various personalities as "Citizen of the Year," a project sponsored annually by the Kiwanis Club in cooperation with other service organizations.

Blanks are available at the two banks, the light company and the gas office. After they are filled out the forms may be deposited in boxes at each of the places mentioned above. They will be taken up Wednesday, November 20, at noon.

A committee will vote on the nominees and the winner will be announced at the Kiwanis dinner the latter part of December.

Judy Assigned
Donald Judy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Judy, Keyser, has been assigned from the Brethren Volunteer Service training unit at New Windsor, Md., to the project at the Pilot House in Baltimore. He will be working in the underprivileged neighborhood of Baltimore in housing projects and recreational programs.

Brethren Volunteer Service is an organized program for volunteer work with the purpose of serving others in many areas of human need throughout the world. The individuals in the program, sponsored by the Church of the Brethren, spend one to two years in some area of service receiving room and board, an allowance of $7.50 per month, essential travel expenses, and medical care for illness or injury incurred while in service.

Since the program's beginning in 1948 a total of 1,021 persons have participated in the two-month training period at New Windsor in preparation for the year's work on project.

Seals To Be Mailed
Approximately 3,500 letters containing Christmas seals will be mailed to the residents of Mineral County tomorrow, the opening date of the 1957 Christmas seal campaign.

J. William Marker, president of the Mineral County TB Association, urges every citizen to buy and use the seals, the proceeds from which constitute the sole support of the association's year-round activities.

PTA Holds Meeting
The PTA of New Creek School held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening with Mrs. Ruby Renbold, president, in charge of the business meeting and Miss Alma Peters leading the group singing of "America."

The program featured a colored movie, "Freedom To Learn," shown by Principal Harold Carvey in keeping with American Education Week. The film depicted some of the problems of teaching, how misunderstandings arise and how one must cope with the situation.

Parents were invited to visit the classroom when open house was held today. They were also asked to have lunch with the faculty members.

Ethel Harp Circle will present "Life of Miss Ethel Harp." "The Program Stev" will be the theme for Charlotte Wagner Circle's booth.

Devotions and spiritual givings will be conducted by Rev. L. E. Crowson, pastor of Trinity Church.

Beginning at 7 p. m., tours will be made of the displays in the downstairs classrooms. Table displays in the recreation room will depict the work of the various secretaries of the WSCS. The slides and music by the guest speakers will also be given in the recreation hall.

Supper Tonight
The Women's Work Organization of the Church of the Brethren, will hold its annual covered dish supper this evening at 5:30 in the Fellowship hall of the new church. The regular monthly business meeting will follow the supper.

Mrs. Mary Pence will have charge of the program. The social committee will have charge of the supper.

All women of the organization are urged to attend and bring a covered dish.

The meeting which is regularly held on the third Tuesday of each month has been moved back a week due to the revival services which will be held the week of November 17-24.

WSCS Bazar November 21

PIEDMONT — Rev. and Mrs. Everett Culp of Cumberland, returned missionaries from Haiti, will be guest speakers at the bazaarless bazar next Thursday at Trinity Methodist Church, sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service. They will show slides and present music of the island.

Instead of having articles for sale at the booths, each circle will have a display illustrating the various phases of the work of the society.

Two mission study courses will be displayed. Carroll Circle will show the "Life of Christ" by St. Mark. Jennie K. Nesbitt Circle will have an exhibit on Japan.

The Wesleyan Service Guild will present the four main countries on the church-wide study course, "Lands of Decision." The MYF will display their areas of mission work under Anna King Circle.

The 33 per cent decrease estimated for West Virginia farms between 1935 and 1956 runs higher than those for neighboring states. The Virginia decrease was about 27 per cent, Maryland about 22, Pennsylvania about 32, Ohio about 28, and Kentucky about 7.

Estimated yearly decreases in West Virginia farms during the last 10 years range from 2,500 to 3,000.

Nationwide, there is a trend toward larger farms, but this trend is not believed to be pronounced in West Virginia, the official said.

Girl Scouts Launch Christmas Campaign
FROSTBURG — Each Girl Scout of Troop 9, sponsored by the Lab School of State Teachers College, has made plans to canvas her neighborhood for toys and useable clothing for needy families in the Frostburg area for Christmas.

Distribution of the toys will be made by Mrs. Margaret Hanson, county health nurse. The scouts are appealing to the public to cooperate in this drive.

W.Va. Farms Show Decrease At Rate Of 3,000 Per Year

WASHINGTON — Farms in West Virginia are decreasing in number at an estimated rate of nearly 3,000 a year.

Recently revised figures of the Department of Agriculture show that West Virginia had an estimated 105,000 farms in 1935.

By 1956 that number had dropped to an estimated 70,000. That was a decrease of about 33 per cent.

The 1935 figure for West Virginia was a peak in the yearly estimates dating back to 1910.

The peak number of farms in the nation also occurred in 1935. The estimated number of 4,968,800 in 1936 was about 27 per cent less than the 1935 estimate of 6,813,700.

A department official said the decreasing number of farms is brought about by a number of factors, such as the expansion of metropolitan and industrial areas and consolidation of farms.

The 33 per cent decrease estimated for West Virginia farms between 1935 and 1956 runs higher than those for neighboring states. The Virginia decrease was about 27 per cent, Maryland about 22, Pennsylvania about 32, Ohio about 28, and Kentucky about 7.

Estimated yearly decreases in West Virginia farms during the last 10 years range from 2,500 to 3,000.

Nationwide, there is a trend toward larger farms, but this trend is not believed to be pronounced in West Virginia, the official said.

Governor To Address Club At Oakland

OAKLAND — Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will be the speaker at the annual "Salute To Our Ladies" of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club Monday evening, November 25. There will be a dinner and dancing.

The dinner will be held at the Southern High School cafeteria, starting at 6:30. Approximately 300 will attend. Following the dinner and program, a dance will be held at the National Guard armory, starting at 9. Music will be furnished by Richard Lewis and his orchestra.

Arrangements for the annual Ladies' Night are in charge of R. Thomas Thayer Jr., first vice president of the club. Thayer said he was planning decorations appropriate to the season.

The subject of the governor's address was not announced.

At the last meeting of the Lions Club members voted to again have their minstrel and variety show in March. Marvin R. Jones, president, said he would appoint a steering committee at an early date. This will be the club's tenth annual show.

To Hold Minstrel
A Band Boosters minstrel will be held tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Northern High School gymnasium at Accident.

This minstrel is sponsored by the Northern High School Band Boosters. Local members of communities and school are participants.

The purpose of the minstrel is to raise funds for use in expanding and maintaining a school instrumental program.

Plan Nomination
FROSTBURG — Past Chiefs Night will be observed by Calanthe Temple 3, Pythian Sisters, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Junior Hall, Broadway, with Mrs. Eva Blake presiding. Officers for the coming year will be nominated.

Parent Night Program Set At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Members of the Class of 1961 will present Christopher Fry's one act play, "The Boy with a Cart," at the Parents Night program Monday at 8 p.m. in Compton Hall of Frostburg State Teachers College.

This early work of Fry tells the story of Cuthman, Saint of Sussex, who is said to have settled at Steyning, England, during the Ninth Century and whose shrine has become a resort for pilgrims. The Anglo-Saxon Church at Steyning, mentioned in "The Domes Day Book," is attributed to St. Cuthman.

The freshman play, which is traditionally produced by the Little Theatre, is being directed by Miss Dorothy Stone White of the faculty. Sue Silcox is the student director. Mary Elizabeth Wheeler and Thomas Richards are assisting with the direction of the speaking choruses representing "The People of South England" and "The Mower."

The cast for the production will include John Shuhart of Barton, Dorothy Downs of Salisbury, Judy Wilson of Silver Spring, David Heck of Glen Burnie, William R. Brown of Cumberland, Sue Ebersol of Williamsport, Fred Kriebbaum of Alaska, Marie Goebel of Frostburg, Camille Robinson of Williamsport, Donald Turley of Cumberland, Alfred and Alton Hoopen-gardner, Hancock.

Alice Zerbach, Cumberland, will be the narrator. The chorus representing the "People of South England" will include Ruth Hockman, Accident; Janet Carlson, Suitland; Mary Helen Alice Cumberland; Lorene Schrom, Greenbelt and Martha Lou McCoy of Bedford.

Brophytown Water Issue Is Discussed

WESTERNPORT—Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council met last night to discuss the problem of selling water to Brophytown residents, although the town does not own the pipe lines which are in poor condition and not large enough.

The town is providing water to 43 customers and a number of them are not paying for the service. Council can not cut off the water from some of them who are not paying regularly due to the fact they are on the same line of those paying, and there is no individual shut-offs.

Council offered to incorporate the community into the Town of Westernport, which representatives refused to do. The town also suggested that they form their own water company so they could make the proper repairs and pipe renewals, and be responsible to paying for the water service to the Town of Westernport.

Town Attorney Horace P. Whitworth Sr., stated he would give the matter more consideration and submit an opinion to the commissioners.

The mayor asked Whitworth if persons who have to be sued for delinquent taxes can be charged for the collection fees and court costs. Michael said he thought the town was entitled to such fees, but did not think the taxpayers of Westernport should have to pay them.

Whitworth reported the town is not permitted to charge delinquent taxpayers collection fees and court costs, but could charge them interest.

The town is rewriting a number of ordinances and Whitworth advised that a new police ordinance be prepared under one statute. He was authorized to do so.

A letter from the Western Maryland Railway was read by Mrs. Katherine Dailey, clerk, stating the town could use the company's plot of ground at the intersection of Main and Church Streets to erect a Christmas tree. This privilege has been granted for several years.

A communication inviting the Mayor and Commissioners to attend the dedication service of Cumberland's new sewage plant on December 6 was read.

Mayor Michael stated that Alton Riggelman and W. M. Riley, officials of Christ Memorial Baptist Church, offered to purchase sewer pipe to drain water in the vicinity of the church for $25, but no action was taken. The town had previously offered to lend the church the pipe, providing they would sign an agreement that the town would not be responsible for the water running on anyone else's property.

Michael asked Arvin Pence, water commissioner, and Bert Reid, street superintendent, to investigate water pipe in the area of the church being exposed.

The mayor stated he had assured Elmer Uphole of the State Department of Forests and Parks, and John Foley, forest ranger, that the town would assist while they burned an area 20 feet wide for 300 feet where the town dumps its garbage above Bloomington. The Town of Luke will also assist. Fire departments will be on hand.

After the regular meeting Wednesday, November 20, council will meet the first and third Wednesday of each month.

Scout Troop Election Held At Piedmont

PIEDMONT — Richard Householder of Westernport was elected scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop 33 at elections held in the Scout Room at Trinity Methodist Church.

Other officers of the troop are: Ronald Loy and Kermit Becker, junior assistant scoutmasters; Robert Hamilton, scribe; Thomas Grove, secretary; Russell Poland, treasurer; Richard Thompson, chaplain, and Joseph Patrone, quartermaster.

The swimming party scheduled for Saturday, November 23, at the Cumberland YMCA was re-scheduled for this Saturday. Twenty-seven of the troop's 34 members attended the meeting.

Service Planned

The annual Thanksgiving union service sponsored by the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association will be held at 10 a. m. Thanksgiving morning, November 28, in St. James' Episcopal Church, Westernport.

Plans for the annual observance were made at the regular meeting of the association in Trinity Methodist Church.

Rev. W. G. Wilson Jr., rector of St. James' Episcopal Church, will officiate at the Thanksgiving celebration of the Holy Eucharist. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Robert T. Shade, pastor of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, Westernport. Music will be arranged for the service.

Injured In Fall

Miss Margaret Dinning, 4, of 226 Welsh Hill, received a possible fracture of the left hip in a fall from a step ladder while working at a private home in Lonaconing. She was brought to Miners Hospital in Eichhorn's ambulance. X-rays will be taken today.

Teachers Lauded By PTA President

Schools throughout the county have received copies of a tribute to teachers, signed by Mrs. Fred L. Bull, president of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Put out in connection with the observance of American Education Week, the tribute points out that teachers help students develop their capabilities, thereby "laying the cornerstone of tomorrow's society."

Parents, Mrs. Bull noted, respect the teaching profession, which is termed the most essential to the American way of life. Teachers, she continued, are doing a superb job despite crowded classrooms, long hours, added responsibilities and little pay.

Pennsylvania GOP Solon To Probe Antarctic Issue

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica—The first U.S. congressman to set foot in the antarctic said today he would investigate reports that many Navy men here are being forced into debt by a Navy ruling.

Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa.), a member of the House Interior and Insular Affairs and Veterans Affairs committees, landed at the McMurdo Sound base from New Zealand with Rear Adm. George J. Dufek, Saylor, a Navy veteran, said a ruling by the Navy comptroller's office had created a pay situation that apparently was in urgent need of correction.

Saylor recommended that the United States plan to continue operations in the antarctic after the International Geophysical Year ends Dec. 31, 1958.

Dufek, the naval commander in the antarctic, said a delay in settling the pay question may interfere with planning for future antarctic operations. Dufek said he favored extra compensation for men serving in the antarctic.

Saylor heard reports that some Navy men might have to appeal to the Navy Relief Society to get them out of financial holes after serving voluntarily for a year or more in the antarctic.

Widespread bitterness among Navy personnel here stems from two contradictory Navy rulings. In addition to regular pay, their travel orders entitle them to per diem payments ranging by rank from $1.85 to $5 or more. They were allowed to draw in advance the money, which totaled from several hundreds to more than $1,500 a man.

Subsequently the comptroller ruled that Navy men stationed in the antarctic are not entitled to per diem payments. Some who have gone home have been required to repay advances out of their regular pay.

Cmdr. Herbert W. Whitney of Arlington, Mass., a Seabee officer who accompanied Saylor, said bills to correct the situation and to give extra pay for remote and isolated duty are now being prepared by the Defense Department.

Norton Rates '39 Club Over Present A&M

By BOB RULE
NEA Special Correspondent
HOUSTON, Tex. — (NEA) — It has been almost 20 years since the Southwest Conference produced a national collegiate football champion, and now that Texas A. and M. is making gestures in that direction folks are beginning to make comparisons.

How does this A. and M. team compare with Homer Norton's Aggie juggernaut of 1939 that swept 10 straight opponents aside and beat Tulane in the Sugar Bowl? That was the team which had John Kimbrough at fullback; Marion Pugh and Cotton Price sharing the quarterback job; Derace Moser and Bill Conatser playing about equally at wingback and Jim Thomason as the blocking back.

It had a pair of All-Americans in the line — tackle Joe Boyd and guard Marshall Robnett. The other regulars were Jim Sterling and Herb Smith, ends; tackle Ernie Pannel, guard Brahma Jones and center Tommy Vaughan.

Allow Two TDs
The Aggies of '39 had only two touchdowns scored on them all season and scored at least three touchdowns themselves in seven of the 10 games played during the season. Only Tulane in the Sugar Bowl managed to score twice against them — and the Green Wave was ranked number two in the nation. The Aggies won that one, by the way, 14-13.

"I believe there may be two principal differences in this Aggie team and mine of 1939," says Norton, now an eminent sports columnist in Houston. "We did more things offensively. We threw more, averaging 25 to 30 passes per game. We had a pair of great receivers in Jim Sterling and Herb Smith and Pugh and Price were fine tossers."

"Our defense must have been better, for we had only two touchdowns scored on us all season, or until the Sugar Bowl game."

Norton feels that his 1939 champions had more truly great players than the current Aggies.

"For instance, Thomason was the finest blocking back this conference has ever seen," he says. "Conatser and Moser were great runners."

I wondered how Norton would compare John Crow, the current Aggie All-America halfback, with Kimbrough, who made it in '39 and '40 at fullback.

Kimbrough 'Greatest'
"Kimbrough," Norton says emphatically, "was the greatest back I've ever seen. I put him in my all-time backfield with Bronko Nagurski, Red Grange and Jim Thorpe. John was faster than Crow. He could run the ends just as well as he could crash through the line."

Homer Norton recognizes, naturally, the fallacy of attempting to compare teams of one era with those of another. Coaching techniques have changed, of course, and football has changed tremendously in the 18 years since the Aggies won the national crown.

His belief simple is that, if you look those 1939 Aggies with their talent and greater depth and put them into today's equipment and defenses—well, you'd have a pretty fearsome football team.

Freehold Trotters Set Many Records

FREEHOLD, N. J. — (AP) — New attendance and wagering marks were set during the 50-day harness racing meet at Freehold Raceway. A total of 172,146 patrons wagered $10,896,935.

Mays Turned Down Trying To Buy San Francisco House

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Willie Mays' attempt to buy a house here failed yesterday.

The 27-year-old San Francisco Giants baseball center-fielder offered the $37,500 the owner asked for a new house on Miraloma Drive, but was turned down after a wait of several days. The owner said there was great neighborhood pressure against the deal, permitting a Negro to buy.

Walter A. Gnesdloff, who is still offering the house at the same price—but not to Mays—said: "I'm just a union working man and I'd never get another job if I sold this house to that baseball player. I feel sorry for him, and if the neighbors say it would be okay, I'd do it."

Pressure Put On
Gnesdloff, a small-scale builder and contractor, said two previous owners he works for put pressure on him not to sell to Mays and neighbors objected by telephone.

"I've never been through this kind of stuff and I'm not even afraid about it now," the normally exuberant Mays said last night. "I'd sure like to live in San Francisco, but I didn't want to make an issue about it."

"I figure if a guy has his own problems he's got to lick them himself, and if neighbors don't want you, what's the good of buying," Mays continued.

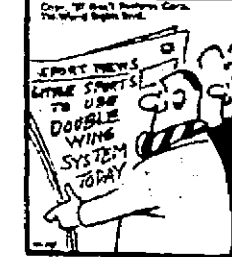

"But talk about a thing like this goes all over the world, and it sure looks bad for our country."

Lot of Camouflage
Mays' wife, Marguerite, wasn't quite as philosophical about it. "Down in Alabama where we come from," she said, "you know your place, and that's something, at least. But up here it's all a lot of camouflage. They grin in your face and then deceive you."

Mayor George Christopher declared: "What's happened is not in accordance with San Francisco's traditions."

The mayor said "it's not our kind of stuff and I'm not even afraid about it now," the normally exuberant Mays said last night.

Utah's Small Man 'Mr. Big' In Receptions

By The Associated Press
Want a pass caught? Throw it in the direction of Stubby Stuart Vaughan, the smallest man on Utah's football team but big man in pass receptions, with 41, in major college statistics released in New York today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The 5-8 senior halfback has caught a half dozen more than anyone else, averaging better than five a game, and is within reach of the top total in five years. Vaughan also could become the fourth major college player ever to latch on to 50 passes in a single season by maintaining his average against Utah's last two opponents, Air Force and Utah State.

Other statistics leaders this week are SMU's Dave Sherer in punting, Oregon State's Sterling Hammack in punt returns, Utah State's overtone Curtis in Kickoff returns and Army's Bob Anderson in scoring.

Sherer has only a slight edge in the punting derby, averaging 44.0 yards to the 43.5 mark of Tennessee's Bobby Gordon.

Anderson leads in scoring with 78 points. LSU's Jim Taylor is second with 68. Anderson also leads in touchdowns with 13.

ACC Cage Games To Be Televised

GREENSBORO, N. C. — Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Jim Weaver has announced a schedule of ACC basketball games to be televised regionally.

Each of the eight conference schools will make at least one TV appearance.

The games will be telecast on Saturdays at 2 p. m.

The scheduled includes:
February — 1. Maryland at Navy; 15. Maryland at North Carolina State.
March — 1. South Carolina at Maryland.

VPI, NC State To Meet In Battle Of Halfbacks

By The Associated Press
A brilliant battle of halfbacks is in prospect Saturday at Roanoke, Va., when Virginia Tech's resurgent football team matches its speed boys against N. C. State's "touchdown twins." Not even Tech Coach Frank Moseley claims that his Gobblers have two halfbacks who in all around skill can match State's Dick Christy and Dick Hunter. Moseley, however, thinks there's considerable strength in numbers.

Thus the spectators in Roanoke's Victory Stadium are likely to get good, long looks at four or five Tech halfbacks, all fast, all of approximately equal ability, as the Techmen try for their third straight victory.

Corbin Bailey, with a 4.5-yard running average, and Barry Frazer, the extra-point expert whose rushing average is 3.9, probably will start at the halfback posts for the Gobblers. Slated for early action, though, will be a trio who've picked up 222 yards among them—veteran Jay Whitesell and sophomores Alger Pugh and Dickie Snead.

Tech held only a light dummy scrimmage yesterday as Moseley sought to hold down injuries.

West Virginia also steered shy of heavy contact work in a workout on offense and defense against the Mountaineer freshmen. Coach Art Lewis indicated either Bill McClure or Whitely Mikanik would replace Ray Peterson at left halfback against Wake Forest.

The Citadel held a rough workout scrimmage that left Coach Eddie Teague pleased with the showing of his defense. VMI's Keydets, the Bulldogs' foe Saturday night, spent a major portion of their long practice session on pass defense, then tried out their offense against a "scout team" using defenses employed by the Citadel.

Davidson displeased Coach Bill Dole in what he called "our worst workout of the year . . . If we play Saturday against Richmond, like we performed in practice today, we'll get shellacked." Richmond held a practice devoted mostly to defense.

Furman's first unit looked at Chattanooga plays in a rugged scrimmage. William & Mary concentrated on defense against Rutgers' single-wing plays.

FOURTH QUINT JOINS CITY HOOP CIRCUIT

A fourth quint was added to the City Basketball League at a meeting in City Hall last night with defending champion Old Germans, coached by "Whip" Kreitzburg, joining the circuit.

Two more teams are being sought to complete the six-club setup which now also includes Moose, with Don Lilya coaching; 40-8, Dave Ritter, and K of C. Jim Morris.

Last night's session was devoted to the by-laws and suggestions of changes for the coming season. It was decided to play games on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week in order to allow more players to compete. The season's opener has been tentatively set for Monday, December 9.

The next session will be Tuesday, November 26, 8 p. m., at the City Hall.

FOREMOST FLINGER

SALT LAKE — (NEA) — Going into the Army game, Lee Grosscup, Utah's top passer, had completed 59 of 82 tries for a phenomenal 719 percentage mark, the best in the country.

NO ROCKING CHAIR

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — (NEA) — James C. Mock, at 91 the lone survivor of Penn State's first football team 70 years ago, is still an annual contender in the Michigan Senior Golf Tournament.

Bears Hoping 'Brat' To Help Story Repeat

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears are wondering if history will repeat.

Three years ago they had four defeats, like now, then caught fire behind a Georgia rookie quarterback, Zeke Bratkowski.

He led them to four straight victories down the stretch that gave the Bears second place in the Western Division of the National Football League.

"Brat," who rejoined the club this season after military service, was used sparingly since his return but was turned loose against Green Bay last Sunday and the Bears won 21-14.

Zeke Helps Sell Team
"Zeke got a big lift out of that game," says coach Paddy Driscoll. "and it did a lot for the entire team. I still say a team with four defeats, and maybe even five, can win to division."

The Bears take their 3-4 record against Baltimore's 4-3 Sunday hopeful of avenging an earlier defeat by the Colts.

Bratkowski, who hit on '13 out of 19 tosses for 182 yards and a touchdown on his stint against the Packers, thinks the Bears can hook up a similar winning streak of three years ago—with luck.

"The whole club is clicking now, and all we need are a few breaks," he says. "Had everything gone our way, we could be 6-1 right now."

"We lost at Green Bay when we couldn't pick up less than a yard for a first down. The Packers lost to us the same way. The breaks average up over time—and if we get a few, we can win it all."

Blocking "Tremendous"

"Brat" said the Bears line blocking "was tremendous on that last drive of 58 yards for our winning touchdown against Green Bay Sunday."

"I had all day to throw. And those forwards opened holes on running plays that were terrific. In fact, we've had good protection and good blocking all year."

The 200-pounder, whose home is at Danville, Ill., said it took him some time to readjust to pro football after making All-Air Force and All-Service at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida.

"You come back and think everything will be the same," he said. "But you soon find out it isn't. Pro ball is just a faster, better game."

"As for Baltimore, it still is a mighty fine team and the Colts certainly deserved to beat us when we played back there. But we are at home this time and we're a better team."

Pistol Falcons Cop Pair Wins

PISTOL STANDINGS

Falcons marked up a pair of wins as the Western Maryland Pistol League opened its fifth Galley season this week at the Bowman's Addition range. Falcons whipped Eagles and Hawks while Hawks edged Owls and then Owls slipped by Eagles.

Floyd Livengood paced Falcons with scores of 270 in the three-stage Gallery course and 167 in the 20-shot slow fire test with the .22 caliber pistol. Norman White turned in the best score of the evening in the split win of Hawks with 271 and 174.

William Whitson led Owls with 238 and 170 while Leo "Dead-Eye" Leasure was top shot for Eagles with 235 and 159. Summary:

Medal Play Seen Being Approved In PGA Tourney

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Delegates to the national convention of the Professional Golfers' Assn. of America today were expected to approve a move to change the PGA Match Play Championship to a 72-hole medal play competition.

While no officials would comment directly, the change to medal play might well conflict in public interest with the United States Golf Assn. Open, which over the years has been dominated by the professionals but which is open to amateurs.

A PGA national open would be restricted to professionals and under that title could well draw censure from the USGA, of which the PGA membership in convention here seems well aware. Gate receipts from the USGA Open far outshadow anything the PGA match play tourney gets year in, year out.

A vote on the switch from match to medal was expected late today.

Syracuse Hopes '44' Still Lucky

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Syracuse University is hoping number 44 will add up to defeat for Colgate again this year.

Last year's number 44 on the Orange football squad was All-America Jim Brown, who piled up 43 points in a 61-7 defeat of Colgate.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder again has his eye on the 44 jersey, worn this year by Tom Stephens. The 190-pound junior leads the Orange scoring this season with seven touchdowns and should present a major threat to the Red Raiders in Saturday's traditional contest.

Gov. Harriman will witness the update classic, for the fourth straight year, his office announced yesterday.

Gadsputnik Hoople Visions 'Out-of-This-World' Scores

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(White-Wash Wizard)

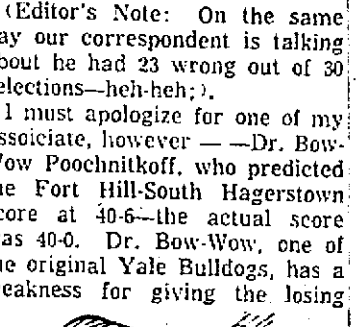

—GADSPUTNIK! Zillions of satellite-minded readers have been in constant touch with me. A touching tribute has arrived. It can be best expressed (or air-mailed) by quoting the letter itself.

"You are out of this world (or should be) as the world-champion forecaster when it comes to calling the results by a single point. I mean the game where you predicted the score would be Alabama 14, Georgia-13—and that was the actual score! Please tell us how you do it."

The sender signs his name rather illegibly, but to me it looks like "Bud Wilkinson." Of course, I could be wrong, it might even be "Ben Minkerson" — heh-heh! How much is that doggie in the satellite?!

(Editor's Note: On the same day our correspondent is talking about he had 23 wrong out of 30 selections—heh-heh;).

I must apologize for one of my associate, however — Dr. Bow-Wow Poochnitkoff, who predicted the Fort Hill-South Hagerstown score at 40-6—the actual score was 40-0. Dr. Bow-Wow, one of the original Yale Bulldogs, has a weakness for giving the losing team a touchdown. (He's been shutout of the house so many times he has developed a complex).

This week the big one is not Oklahoma against Notre Dame nor Iowa vs. Ohio State. It will be Mysteria and Sherwin-Williams—an opponent with the glossy rainbow school colors.

Mysteria, playing much tougher opposition than the Sooners, has won 71 straight. Sherwin-Williams has been "brushing up" on its offense and defense but is expected to use the "roller-type" play against the mighty Mysterians of Coach Frank Fiction.

SVU's attack is featured by everybody's All-American Chinese quarterback, Kem-Glo, a stirred-up signal-caller who is at his best on the rolling-out option play. The game will be the homecoming attraction for S-W and also the site of the 100th-annual reunion of the Party Painters of America, Unlimited.

The other smaller games of this weekend will find the extra point, smallest of all scores, making the difference as Oklahoma beats Notre Dame and Iowa cracks the Buckeyes. Also the LaSalle-Shade Central and Allegheny-Martinsburg contests will end up in 13-13 ties—something a little out of the unusual. Heh-heh!

Cotton Bowl Stars Still Very Active

DALLAS — (AP) — Stars of the first Cotton Bowl game 21 years ago are still building football reputations.

Sam Baugh, quarterback of the TCU team that beat Marquette, 16-6, Jan. 1, 1917, is coaching at Marquette. A. J. Guepe, Marquette star that day, is coaching at Vanderbilt.

Sooners After More Tickets

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Oklahoma may get a break in ticket allocations for the Orange Bowl football game.

Chairman Ben Franklin of the Orange Bowl team committee said yesterday that if the Atlantic Coast Conference representative does not want its full allotment, they will let the Sooners have the surplus.

Ken Farris, business manager of the Sooner Athletic Department, told the Orange Bowl committee that Oklahoma can use 19,000 tickets to the 1938 game. The winner of the Clemson-Duke game at Durham, N. C. Saturday is considered certain to be named as the ACC's most representative team.

"Maverick" One Of Most Expensive TV Films

NEW YORK (INS)—"Maverick" is one of the most expensive film shows on TV. Costs the sponsor, NBC, about $100,000, plus time it takes the way it's tamed Sullivan night's nonsense.

MOON IS ABOUT ONE-FOURTH THE SIZE OF THE EARTH.

MOON'S GRAVITATIONAL PULL IS ABOUT ONE-SIXTH THAT OF THE EARTH. A 200 POUND MAN WOULD WEIGH LESS THAN 35 POUNDS, AND WOULD BE ABLE TO PERFORM PRODIGIOUS FEATS OF AGILITY.

WHAT'S ON THE MOON?

With all the talk going around about man reaching the moon, the question is: What will he find when he gets there? Scientists, who have studied the moon over a distance of 240,000 miles for centuries, say it is a rugged, lifeless globe. It has none of the earth's life-giving qualities, not even air. In man's earliest observations, light and dark areas were detected. Dark areas were believed to be water. These areas were given the name "maria," or seas. Later investigation revealed them to be dry plains. Some of the maria (see Newschart) are of tremendous size. Light areas on the moon are mountain ranges. Among the most impressive sights, easily discernible through low-powered telescopes, are the craters. Scientists are not in agreement as to what caused them. Some believe they are the result of impact of meteors; others believe they were formed by volcanic activity in the centuries before the moon cooled. The moon is subjected to extreme temperatures. In the center of the light side, it reaches 214 degrees, about the boiling point of water. Away from the sun, it drops to 230 degrees below zero.

Jimmy Cagney Accepted By N. Y. Longshoremen

By BOB THOMAS
NEW YORK (AP)—James Cagney, flanked by two New York policemen, walked to the end of Pier 17 through a crowd of tough longshoremen.

The workers greeted him warmly, shouting comments to him. He answered them back in kind, and they were delighted. It was obvious that they accepted him as one of their kind.

Cagney was reporting for a scene in his new movie, "Never Steal Anything Small," which was filming near the Brooklyn Bridge. It's a musical satire in which he plays a tough guy who sings his way to control of a corrupt labor union.

When he did his campaign number before the rugged-looking audience on the wind-swept pier—some actors, some not—he was immensely convincing. James Cagney, ex-hooper, an actor who has earned millions, still could get the mug.

"That's what growing up in this town did for me," Jimmy said as he sat in the shelter of a truck and surveyed the skyline of New York. "Imagine me trying to play a tough guy if I hadn't been brought up in a tough part of town! Believe me, it has paid off well over the years."

Being back in the scenes of his boyhood prompted some nostalgia on his part. He talked about his early days around 79th Street on the East Side.

"Sure, the kids were tough in those days," he said. "They used blackjacks and knives then too. But there didn't seem to be the the best schools. But thank heaven I don't have to live in the city." End advance PMS Nov. 14

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, Nov. 15, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Follow up good resolutions. Make them facts, and you will have accomplished a fine day's work. Heart interests, domestic affairs favored.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — Excellent influences. Take advantage of all fresh opportunities, good suggestions. A fine time for making improvements, holding conferences.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Don't be too anxious to put your ideas into action. Better think twice about taking important steps, making decisions, etc. Otherwise, day is good for all worthwhile activities. Be duly cautious.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer) — Your Moon, Venus and Mars give forth fine vibrations now. Your hopes and ambitions should be high. Keep them so. Carry out well laid plans and, if you can, do it without strain, try something new.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo) — A promising day on the whole. Of course, you must make use of your talents and ingenuity if you want to benefit by the planetary vibrations. Look ahead with faith, determination.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo) — Add common sense to the inspiration you put into this day's tasks. Don't overdo yourself, but make immediate use of all available advantages, new leads.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra) — Venus now sponsors artistic, home and family interests, and the benefic Mars is also in friendly aspect. This is YOUR day to accomplish — in the material as well as in the routine.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio) — A truly promising outlook for you capable folks. Make it a "big" day. Take time to figure out the right procedure, and you can have splendid results.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius) — Benefic influences generally. Much can be accomplished now. Not only are gains to be made, but your personal affairs are also under generous aspects.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn) — An interesting and generally friendly period. You have much in your favor. Have cheer, hope in your heart. You will attain.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius) — Keep enthusiasm to a common sense level. This is an unusual period, with some restrictive influences where personal matters are concerned. However, if you are neither overconfident nor too complacent, you can attain much.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces) — You have the "go" sign in all worthwhile activities now. Aim high. You can achieve your goals through earnest effort. Try new enterprises if you wish, but don't neglect regular tasks.

YOU BORN TODAY are progressive, inventive, always active, at all times or another; are ambitious, versatile, clever and generous of heart. A likely fault is a tendency to be too self-sufficient, wearing yourself out helping others. Recognize the importance of "working together" and see that others get their share. Keep improving your artistic side and don't encourage any tendency toward procrastination. You can do well in business, as a teacher, in trade, at skilled mechanics. Birthdate: (in January) Sir Wm. Herschel, noted astronomer. (King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Skill Needed For Big Slam

BY OSWAD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North's bidding was entirely too enthusiastic. He should have contented himself with a small slam.

West opened the king of spades.

and when South looked at the dummy, he noted immediately that the entire play for seven was to find the queen of clubs and use one of his clubs to discard dummy's low diamond.

A peek would have made the hand automatically, but without a peek South had to decide on the play to give the maximum chance for success, and the one he worked out fulfilled all conditions.

South started by ruffing the opening spade lead. A trump to dummy pulled both opposition trumps and the ace of spades was led. South letting a diamond go from his hand. The last spade was ruffed and now South played three rounds of trumps. He discarded another diamond and East and West let go two spades and a diamond each.

The next three plays were: ace of clubs, king of clubs and jack of clubs, which declarer trumped in dummy. Now dummy's last trump was led and East was squeezed. He held the guard for the king of diamonds, since his only hope was that South did not hold another club. This meant that he had to let the queen of clubs go and South made the grand slam.

The whole play had been perfect technique. Not only did South's method of attack insure success if the queen of clubs was held by the player with short clubs, but it gave an extra chance for a mistake. If West held the queen of clubs, he might have covered the jack with the queen. Finally it gave the extra winning chance. East held both the queen of clubs and king of diamonds and ran into the squeeze.

What do you bid?

A—Four clubs. There is some slam possibility in this hand and you are not jeopardizing anything by showing your club ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION

African Soil Map Prepared

The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations has prepared the first map of the soil cover of the greater part of the African continent. The map, scheduled to be published some time in 1958, seeks to coordinate and analyze data on climate and soil that will result in an increase in the continent's agricultural output, according to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. A similar study is planned in Latin America. Another project consists of a revision of a soil map of Europe originally published in 1927.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Ensemble Plans Program Sunday

The Fort Hill Ensemble will present a program at Holy Cross Episcopal Chapel Sunday at 7:30 p. m., sponsored by the Young Churchmen.

The Ensemble has 12 members from Fort Hill senior high and is under the direction of Miss Mary Robb, choir and glee club director at the high school.

The group, in its second year, is making its first public appearance for this season and will do several spiritual numbers.

Administration Caught Napping By Sputniks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration—judging from President Eisenhower's two nationwide talks—was caught napping by the Russians.

Either that, or it needed two Sputniks to get it moving. For weeks the administration had been working on the budget—the cost of running the country in satellites, in rockets to propel them, and in the industrial ability to produce them.

There had been no talk of increased spending for defense or of a rush in missile and satellite development.

Then the Russians fired their Sputniks, ample testimony to the amazing progress they have made in scientific, satellite and missile development.

And in his nationwide talk last night he called for heavier spending on defense. How much? He didn't say. Will taxes have to go up in 1958? He didn't say. One thing seems sure: they won't be coming down.

He talked of the need—as at least part of the means for meeting increased defense costs—for cutting down on the spending on domestic programs.

If he was vague on costs, it's understandable. His administration presumably was at work on a pre-Sputnik kind of budget but now, after the Sputniks, is in a scramble to revise its thinking.

Between now and the time the budget finally is unveiled before Congress, this country may be treated to a campaign of conditioning to get it ready for the spending ahead.

And since the whole country was startled by the Sputniks—and members of Congress already are talking of willingness to increase defense spending—the administration shouldn't have much trouble selling its program.

Yesterday, a few hours before Eisenhower talked, Secretary of Commerce Weeks did a missionary job for the administration on spending.

Weeks indicated in a speech that Eisenhower—when he presents his budget—will call for increased military and foreign aid spending while cutting down on civilian programs.

He said: "The emphasis now is on less butter and more guns."

Eisenhower and his administration weren't putting the emphasis on less butter and more guns before the Sputniks.

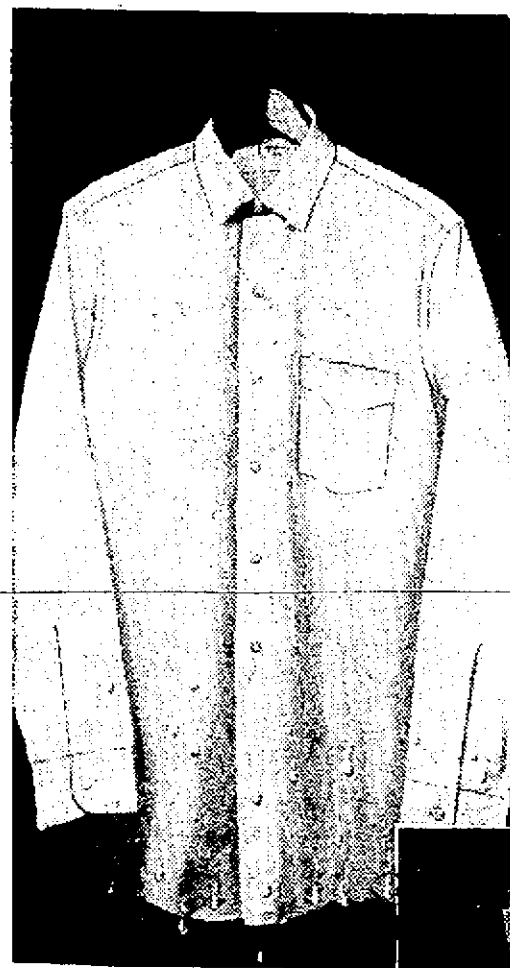

Bids Requested On Veterans Hospital

The Chamber of Commerce has been notified that bids will be opened January 21 by the Veterans Administration on extensive additions and alterations to the Perry Point VA Hospital.

Cost of the work was estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Details may be secured through the Chamber of Commerce office here.
